Dulles Clarifies US View

Says It Does Not Intend to Shoot Its Way Through Canal If Blocked

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Egypt told the United States today that implementation of the Suez Canal users' association "means war."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States has no intention of shooting its way through the Suez Canal if Egypt blocks the passage of ships.

Dulles told a news conference the United States would favor diverting its vessels around Africa under such conditions, regardless of the extra cost involved.

He said the U. S. government is ready to consider dollar loans to friendly countries who might be unable to withstand such a financial burden.

At the same time, Dulles appealed to Egypt to reconsider its initial violent objection to a plan for setting up an association of Suez Canal users.

British Prime Minister Eden disclosed Britain, France and the United States would organize such an authority in a speech yesterday.

While Dulles' meeting with reporters was still in progress, the Egyptian Embassy announced that Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein had called on Dulles a few minutes earlier to give him "the urgent message that the scheme which Sir Anthony Eden wants to impose on Egypt is an open and flagrant aggression on Egyptian sovereignty and its implementation means war."

The Embassy said the Ambassador told Dulles:

"If the U. S. desires war then she may support this scheme but if her desire is to work for a peaceful solution, the scheme has to be abandoned."

Dulles' statement today apparently had the personal backing of President Eisenhower.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told reporters at Eisenhower's Gettysbrg, Penna., farm the President had conferred on the Suez crisis with Dlles by telephone before Dulles' news conference. The President was resting at his farm today.

Hagerty announced too that Eisenhower will fly here tomorrow afternoon for a White House conference with Premier Robert Menzies of Australia. Menzies headed the commission which failed to reach agreement with Egypt's President Nasser in recent Suez discussions in Cairo.

Dulles made no reference at his news conference to Hussein's visit.

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A second funeral mass was said in St. Gioacchino Church today for Archbishop Edwin Vince O'Hara of Kansas City, who died here Tuesday after a heart attack.

The mass was said by Msgr. Thomas Crowell, the archbishop's secretary. A faithful crowd attended the service for the bishop of Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo.

Yesterday a wedding ceremony was held in another part of the church. After the wedding, the new bride placed her white gladioli bridal bouquet behind the head of the 75-year-old American prelate, whose body has been lying in state in St. Gioacchino's Crypt dedicated to the Immaculate Mary.

World War II Ace Named Missouri Air Guard Commander

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lt. Col. Glennon T. Moran, a triple ace of World War II, has been appointed commander of the 131st Bombardment Group, Missouri Air National Guard.

He succeeds Col. Charles H. Dubois, who last week was named commander of the 131st Bomb Wing, parent unit of the bombardment group. The appointment was announced yesterday.

Colonel Moran, a St. Louis attorney, shot down 17 German planes as a fighter pilot with the Eighth Air Force.

Donnelly Says He Opposes New Plank

Refers to Proposed Mandatory 'Veto Session' Annually

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Phil M. Donnelly joined the chairman of the Democratic State Platform Committee today in opposing a plank adopted at the state convention Tuesday.

The platform endorsed a proposed constitutional amendment for annual legislative sessions and a mandatory "veto session" to consider any vetoes coming after adjournment of the regular sessions.

Yesterday Sen. Michael Kinney (D) of St. Louis, the platform committee chairman, criticized the proposal as "most unsound" and today the Democratic governor said he thought Kinney was absolutely right.

A veto session, Donnelly said, would be "a useless expenditure of the state's money" and an unnecessary curb on the governor's power.

"It plays into the hands of the pressure groups," he told his news conference.

Donnelly did not name them but said he thought the proposal had been "agitated by pressure groups."

"I expect I've vetoed more bills than any other governor and I've never had one overriden," he said.

He pointed out that a governor gives all bills a lot of study before acting on them. And if any emergency arises, the governor has the power to call the Legislature back into special session—as Donnelly did last winter to allot money for a $75 million building bond issue.

The governor said he wouldn't be absolutely opposed to the plan for annual legislative sessions. He thought that might be all right if it were not tied in with the proposal for a "veto session."

West Germany Makes Plans to Evacuate People From Egypt

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany is readying emergency plans to evacuate its nationals from Eghpt, Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano said today. One source quoted him as saying the Suez situation is "extremely difficult," and that he sharply criticized Egyptian attempts to recruit canal pilots in West Germany.

IS OFFERED FOR SALE AND LEASE—This is an aerial view of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad shops in Sedalia, looking east. Two triangular tracts, one at the top of the picture and the other at the right, are immediately available to private industries, and the other facilities will become available as soon as the railroad firm can arrange it. The facilities will be disposed of in part or in whole.

President Fraser Announces Offer To Private Firms

Two Triangular Tracts to Be Made Available Immediately, the Rest Ready for Disposal Within a Year

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad's passenger car building and repair shops at Sedalia, which have been on an inactive basis much of the time in recent years, will be made available for the location of private industries which would provide permanent payrolls and other advantages to the community, Donald V. Fraser, Katy president, announced today.

The MKT's industrial development will energetically cooperate with the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce and other civic interests in an aggressive campaign to induce private industries to locate in Sedalia and acquire use of the extensive Katy shop facilities, either in full or in part, Fraser said.

The land and shop buildings will be offered for sale or lease in whole or in nits, he said.

Two triangular tracts of ground at either end of the property will be made available immediately, it was announced. These consist of approximately 12 acres fronting 20th Street at the eastern end of the property and approximately five acres at the western end. The balance of the property, including buildings, will be made available for disposal to private industries as the company is enable to release the units. The entire property should be available for sale within a year, it was announced.

The Katy's passenger shop zone embraces about 36 acres and the facility includes such major buildings as the wood mill, coach paint and varnish shop, passenger car construction shop, office building, machine and blacksmith shop, power plant and auxiliary structures.

In order to make the facility available to private industries which, in the long run, would prove of far more benefit to the community of Sedalia than has the Katy's stand-by operations of recent years, the railroad plans to consolidate what passenger car repair work it has with its freight car repair projects in shops at other pointsu on the system, Fraser said.

"By helping to induce private industries to locate in Sedalia, and making our passenger shop facilities and property available to them at advantageous terms, we will be materially helping to stabilize and strengthen the entire economy of Sedalia and Pettis County," he said.

"It has been most gratifying to find that the business and civic leaders of Sedalia with whom we have discussed our plans are in agreement with us that; in the long run, the community stands to gain important and enduring economic benefits through this program to bring new and permanent industries to Sedalia."

The Sedalia shops originally were designed to take care of the constrction and repair of the so-called "conventional," or heavy, passenger cars. With the advent within recent years of the streamlined all-steel passenger cars, new techniques, new methods and new materials are utilized. The stronger and lighter construction of these new-type cars makes necessary far less repair and overhauling than was the case with conventional cars.

The economics of modern-day railroad operation with diesel motive power require a streamlining of all plant, equipment and operating facilities and techniques, which includes the consolidating of many separate repair, servicing and maintenance facilities at centralized points, Fraser pointed out.

The Katy president said that disposal of the Sedalia shop facilities to private industry would work to the permanent benefit of the community by substituting for the sporadic employment offered by the shops in recent years a continuous level of employment in new private industries with consequent regular payrolls, enhanced purchasing power and the many other advantages stemming from permanent industry.

Katy Decision Is Milestone For Chamber

"The decision of the Missouri Kansas - Texas Railroad to make the Sedalia passenger shop facility available for industrial development should be considered a milestone in the effort of the Chamber of Commerce and its Industrial Division," commented Jack Faber, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

"We have long enjoyed the fullest cooperation in working with the Katy Industrial Development Department and the announcement today provides the proof of the Katy's interest in the economic progress of Sedalia. With this facility available to us, our efforts will be redoubled to secure substantial industrial payrolls for the city.

"Our industrial development program is a continuous one and we should now be able to move forward to completely fill the area as it is ideally suited for industrial purposes. Some firms with whom we have been in contact have already voiced an interest in the Katy facilities," Faber said.

Adlai Opens His Campaign 'Formally'

Will Make Address Tonight; Subject Is Kept a Secret

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson "formally" opens his campaign for the presidency tonight with a $280,000 speech.

The Democratic nominee will speak to a nationwide audience over all possible networks — three television and four radio — in a "saturation" effort to develop what aides call "an important theme" in the campaign. They kept the precise subject secret.

Time of broadcast is 8:30 p.m., EST.

Stevenson's staff members said the cost of the aired speech would exceed $200,000. TV sources placed the figure at $280,000.

Stevenson flew into Harrisburg from New York early today so he could have ample time to put the finishing touches on the address in the privacy of Gov. George M Leader's executive mansion.

He came by chartered plane with his running mate Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Governor Leader, staff members and newsmen.

Several hundred persons were on hand at Harrisburg State Airport to greet him when he landed at 1:10 a.m.

Two dozen girls in pale-blue "Stevenson" dresses — similar to the costume worn by girl supporters at the Democratic convention in Chicago — were among the welcomers.

Stevenson will deliver his address in the large arena of the State Farm Show Building at a $50-a-plate fund-raising dinner. Staff members said that 10,000 persons were expected to attend.

Sentiment at Conference End—

Methodists Decide on Fewer Speeches, More Discussions

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (AP) — Fewer speeches. More time for discussion.

That was the sentiment of delegates to the World Methodist Conference, at the end of 12 days of meetings—at which more than 60 lectures were delivered.

Bishop Fred P. Corson of Philadelphia, summing up the conclusions of "discussion groups" which met in the brief intervals between speeches, reported: "Delegates . . . to future assemblies want more time for discussion of current problems . . . and fewer addresses."

About 2,000 delegates from 44 nations attended the conference, hailed by Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of St. Louis, outgoing president of the church's World Council, as: "The most tremendous meeting Methodists have ever had anywhere, any time."

The Rev. Dr. Harold Roberts, a British theologian and educator, was elected to succeed Bishop Holt.

In his summary, Bishop Corson reported these findings of some of the various discussion groups:

Basis of Christian authority: Individuals, institutions and experience contribute to Christian insight but the main guide is a book, the Bible.

Church and state: Man's first responsibility to God remains. The state serves man best as his tool, not his master. It is necessary to find ways of bearing Christian witness in alien or hostile atmospheres.

Race relations: Practice falls short of principles.

Evangelism: Not recruiting church members, but gaining a "full surrender of life" to Christ is the main objective.

The conference, in its closing sessions yesterday, gave final approval to a 1,500-word message condemning discrimination or segregation based on color or race.

Three Attend Class in Face Of Resistance

CLAY, Ky. (AP)—Only two Negroes and, one white pupil and seven of a teaching staff of 17 showed up for class today in the face of this community's passive resistance against integration.

The mayor said whites would boycott the school.

In sharp contrast to past days, no crowd showed up at the school where the enrollment is 590.

The two Negro pupils, James Gordon, 10, and his sister, Teresa, 8, arrived an hour and a half before class was to start. They played in the school yard and talked to newspapermen and National Guardsmen posted in the area.

Several students came to school but quickly left after they had picked up books and personal belongings. Seven appeared ready to stay but six left before the assembly bell. One unidentified white student was still in the school.

One 6-year-old girl identified as Linda Spence came out of the school building crying and said: "I'm afraid. There's nobody inside. I ain't staying. I want my momma."

A woman took her home.

Jordan Charges Israel—

Truce Chief Asks Nations To End Border Incidents

JERUSALEM (AP) — Maj. Gen. Edson Burns, U.N. truce chief, has called on both Jordan and Israel to put an end to the series of border incidents that has exploded in the middle of the worsening Suez crisis.

Jordan military sources charged yesterday that 1,000 Israelis in a fleet of trucks and armored cars blew up a fortified police post and killed 20 Jordanians during a two-hour battle.

This attack, one of the most serious along the Jordan-Israeli border in months, was only three miles from where the Israelis claimed six of their soldiers were killed by a Jordan patrol Monday.

The raid was followed by an Israeli report last night that two Israeli guardsmen were killed by infiltrators from Jordan on the road between the Dead Sea and Red Sea. Another guardsman was missing.

Gen. Burns appealed to both sides to end the "tragic series of events." In a communique he declared that the raid appeared to be "an act of retaliation such as has been repeatedly condemned by the Security Council."

The Tel Aviv newspaper Maariv said the raid "should teach the Arabs that Israel's security forces are on guard and will severely punish every murder and act of sabotage."

A spokesman at U.N. headquarters said the police post a four-room stone building with two towers at Rahwa, about a mile inside Jordan and 20 miles southwest of Jerusalem, was wrecked. An explosives expert said at least half a ton of explosives had been used to blow it up.

Jordan military sources gave this account of the attack:

Supported by heavy mortar fire and military engineers, about a battalion of Israelis in 34 trucks and jeeps and three armored cars attacked that 16 Jordan police and national guardsmen manning the post. The post was blown up by an explosive charged slipped into the building and everyone inside was killed.

Three jeeploads of Jordan reinforcements rushed up, and the Israelis ambushed them, blowing up one jeep and killing all four occupants.

Roosevelt Can Have Children Visit Now In His Own Home

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rep. James Roosevelt will be able to have his three children visit him in his own home for the first time since he and the former Romelle Schneider were divorced in June 1955.

Roosevelt yesterday won his fight for expanded visitation rights. His former wife opposed his request and particularly objected to the children being in the comapny of Roosevelt's bride, Irene.

As a result of the court ruling, James Jr., 10, Michael, 9, and Anna Eleanor, 8, can visit their father's home on alternate weekends while he is in Los Angeles and on certain holidays. Heretofore, Roosevelt's visits with his children have been permitted only at their mother's home.

Education Experts Give Parents School Day Tips

By ALICIA HART,
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The day of liberation is at hand. If the kids aren't back in school already they soon will be.

But for your own good, send them trooping to the classroom full of smiles during the first weeks of school.

Above all, don't make them feel like they're going off to jail, even if that's the way you looked at it as a kid years ago.

This piece of advice is given out by Dr. Helen Mackintosh, chief of the Elementary School Section in the U. S. Office of Education.

She's the expert on school children for grades one through six at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Recently Dr. Mackintosh was the only woman among 10 federal career service employes to receive the National Civil Service League's career service award.

She was chosen for the honor because of her distinguished leadership in elementary school education here and abroad.

"The parents' attitude is reflected in their children," she says. "Therefore, they should put the positive emphasis on school. Often however, they picture it as a bad place to go."

Dr. Mackintosh suggests that parents encourage their youngsters to return to school with materials and hobbies shared in the summer vacation.

Here are some other back-to-school tips she has for mothers and fathers:

Give teachers time. Don't expect your youngster to become an overnight quiz kid.

Go along with the general plan of instruction that your child receives. Don't fly off the handle if Johnnie doesn't get his education exactly as you did.

Talk to teachers and principals at school before being critical at home in front of the children.

"In the U. S., school doors are always open for parents," says Dr. Mackintosh. "This is not true in some countries where parents can come only when invited."

Balance your children's activities. Don't give them so many things to do, such as music and dancing lessons, that they never see daylight.

"Because kids don't have the kinds of outdoor chores they used to, they should have plenty of active, outdoor play," explains Dr. Mackintosh. "They also should not come home and glue themselves to a TV set."

See to it that your children get worthwhile books several times a year, if you can afford them. And set up a place where they can start their own library.

Dr. Mackintosh is hardly the scholarly, ivory-tower type. On loan to the Foreign Operations Administration in 1954, she traveled 1,200 miles through Combodia in a jeep.

Give the teachers time and don't curtail outdoor play are two of the suggestions Dr. Helen Mackintosh has for the first weeks of school.

Occasionally venturing into unexplored territory, she met with more than 1,000 elementary school principals during her six-week trip.

What surprised her most were the questions principals asked, such as:

"What is your salary?" or "What is your age?"

"These questions are considered polite in Cambodia," she explains.

She didn't duck either one, by the way.

It's Bonanza time at Buick Dealers!

That means SMART BUYS for the QUICK-MINDED

Buick Super 4-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

(You get a triple Bonanza in today's Buick)

Smart buys are in season.

This is fine trading time. Your present car is at peak value. And with today's low Buick prices and high volume — you'll get a deal that can't be matched.

So why put off any longer the excitement and pure pleasure of bossing the mightiest V8 in Buick history? Why not start enjoying today the terrific performance of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflow* —with its double-action getaway and safety acceleration even before you switch the pitch?

Why wait to enjoy the freshness of Buick styling, the fabulous Buick ride — when you can make a bonanza buy on the biggest-selling big car of all?

Come in today to enjoy the best motoring money can buy—at a bargain you'll boast about for years.

*Now Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Bonanza Trade-in Allowance

—because your present car is at its peak value right now. And because—with Buick so solidly set as America's No. 3 Best Seller—our bigger sales volume permits us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Bonanza Buy

Buick prices start right next to those of the smaller cars. But those Buick dollars buy you a whale of a lot more automobile — more room, more power thrill, more styling freshness, more ride stability, more solidity of structure — the Best Buick Yet.

Bonanza Resale

A Buick always resells high. But the '56 Buick will bring you even more money when you trade it because it carries today's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's the most advanced transmission yet developed—and the only one that breaks with the past to bring you the switch-pitch performance and gas savings of the modern plane's variable pitch propellers.

It's a great time to buy a Buick

P. S. We have some especially good buys right now on the high-powered CENTURY and the extra-spacious SUPER. Better see 'em real soon!

READING, Pa. (AP) — Two AWOL soldiers from Fort Bragg, N. C., were found in a most unlikely place — the beer storage vaults of a Reading brewery.

Good Compost Is Desirable Garden Asset

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

The garden program as summer bows out should include the last pruning of hedges. The new growth which quickly follows all pruning will be thoroughly hardened before winter wind and cold arrives.

Feeding, too, is in order, and one pound of a 4-12-4 fertilizer for each 25 feet of row should be cultivated and watered into the soil on each side of the hedge. Hedges taller than five feet should be given half again as much plant food.

Professor L. C. Chadwick, horticulturalist, Ohio State University, advises building up the compost pile by adding trimmings of the hedges, refuse from the vegetable and flower gardens, as well as lawn clippings.

Good compost is a welcome and desirable addition to all plantings. Heavy clay soils are especially benefited, because the compost adds humus which increases the soil's fertility and friability and the ease with which it may be worked. Light sandy soils, too, are helped as the addition of compost permits a longer retention of plant nutrients and moisture.

There are two common ways of making garden compost. One method is to dig a pit to hold the refuse and the other is to pile it up on the surface. Professor Chadwick recommends the pit method because it is less unsightly and the rotting of vegetation is more rapid.

The pit is dug about three feet deep and of any desired length and width. When each six inches of refuse has accumulated in the pit, it should be packed down, soaked with water, and covered with a light layer of soil to hold it in place. If started in the spring, compost will be ready to use in the fall. Materials composted this fall may not be sufficiently decomposed to use next spring, but a start should be made now.

If the refuse is piled above the ground, the pile should be about four feet high and four feet in width with any desired length. Make the top surface concave so that it will hold water and also keep the heap well packed and moist to hasten decay.

Since most compost piles are built as the material accumulates, each layer should be sprinkled with a shovelful each of limestone and a 4-12-4 fertilizer. This will hasten its decomposition and greatly increase its value.

Because many disease-producing organisms, such as the fungus causing fusarium wilt, will live over several years in the soil, it is not advisable to use diseased plants from the vegetable or flower gardens in the compost pile. The wise gardener destroys, by burning, all diseased plants to avoid a recurrence of the plague next year.

4-H Room Improvement Contest Results

The 4- H Room Improvement Committee visited the ten 4-H Club home furnishings members, who completed their room projects, Saturday, Sept. 8.

The work done by this group was outstanding and represented much planning and work on the part of the 4-H members as well as cooperation and encouragement from the parents and leaders. We are sure all have profited by this project.

It was with much pride that the 4-H members and family showed their work to the committee.

The judges final decisions were as follows.

Home Furnishings I: Richard Wissman, Flat Creek 4-H Club, blue ribbon rating; Sara Gayle Oswald, Quisenberry 4-H Club, Anita Rhoads, Quisenberry 4-H Club, Marlene Rumpf, Oak Point 4-H Club, red ribbon rating.

Home Furnishings II: Terry Cole, LaMonte 4-H Club; Glenda Rhoads, Quisenberry 4-H Club; Carolee Shirley, Striped College 4-H Club, Carol McCune, Manilla 4-H Club, Aleta Mae Chevilier, Pleasant Green Club, and Arlene Schlesselman, Bunker Hill 4-H Club, all received a blue ribbon rating.

Cash awards will be furnished by the Sears Roebuck Foundation. We are indebted to Mrs. Mildred Goddard, local Sears Roebuck store manager, for her interest in making this project possible in Pettis County each year.

Extension Club Clothing Leaders Notice

There will be a style revue by the Extension Club members as a part of the Achievement Day program.

To date I do not have the names of all those who will be included in this group. Clothing leaders should get these names to me by Saturday, Sept. 22.

Do You Eat a Good Breakfast?

A good breakfast will include foods rich in vitamin C, vitamin A and calcium. It also will supply its proportionate share of protein and the other required vitamins and minerals.

Breakfast is one of the easiest and quickest meals to prepare. Plan to make it a GOOD nourishing breakfast by serving these foods:

Fruit—Choose from a variety of fruits. Feature those rich in vitamin C such as the citrus fruits and juices, tomato juice, and strawberries and cantaloupe in season. Cantaloupe is also an excellent source of vitamin A.

Cereal or eggs or both — Use whole grain or enriched cereals. Cereals, supplemented by milk, help supply protein requirements, as well as supplying B-vitamins and minerals. Vary the way the eggs are prepared. Eggs supply protein and other nutrients; the yolk is a good source of vitamin A.

Bread and Butter—Serve different kinds of bread, muffins or rolls—enriched or whole grain. Butter or fortified margarine supplies vitamin A.

Milk—Serve as a beverage and on the cereal. Milk is the best source of calcium. One cup milk will supply a child with more than ¼ of the day's requirement. Children need three to four cups of milk each day. Those who are "breakfast skippers" are not likely to get that amount.

Those Between Meal Snacks

Do those between meal snacks just satisfy your appetite at the moment or do they give you some extras in food value? They can do both and taste good, too.

Today, many people are thinking and talking about being overweight—and calories come in for their share of consideration. Between meal snacks are often quite high in calorie value with very little else. For example, a bottle of soft drink would have the same number of calories as a glass of skimmed milk. But think of the extras you would get from the milk—calcium, protein, and phosphorus, to name some of the more important nutrients. For variety, milk can be flavored with chocolate, honey, or various fruit juices. A glass of lemonade made from fresh lemons or frozen lemon juice will give you a good supply of vitamin C without adding a large number of calories. Other fruit juice drinks will come in this group too.

Two pieces of chocolate creams have the same calorie value as an apple, orange, or banana. Candy will furnish only calories while fruit has other food values such as important minerals and vitamins.

Today's popular informal entertaining usually includes snacks or nibblers. Instead of the usual pie with whipped cream or cake with thick fudge frosting, try a tray of raw vegetables with carrot curls, radish roses, cucumber wedges, cauliflower fans, turnip lilies, and green pepper rings. Add meat roll-ups, deviled egg slices, and finger size bread and butter sandwiches. Or try carrot-cheese sandwiches, apple snacks, or pear slices.

Non-fat dry milk can be used to make whipped milk topping which can be a tasty variation for whipped cream. It is especially good on gingerbread or it can be made into a frozen dessert. You will enjoy using it in many other ways, too.

Between meal snacks are important. They should be tasty but at the same time contribute to the day's food needs. While no food is fattening, some foods contain more calories than others. Many snacks are guilty of containing "empty" calories only and snacks may quickly add calories in fairly large numbers.

Plant Rose Bush in Fall For Spring Blooms

Many a homemaker has wished for bright blooming roses in her yard but somehow never got around to planting the bush. If you have more time in the fall than in spring, this fall might be a good time to plant at least one of the many kinds of roses which can be grown in Missouri. Or at least you could prepare the soil for spring planting.

If you are not handicapped by shade and tree roots, roses will grow well in soil prepared in the fall by spading thoroughly and adding well rotted cow or sheep manure. If you do have trees, choose a spot for your roses at least ten to 15 feet away from the tree roots. Roses need a minimum of four hours sun every day, preferably in the morning. Also they like free circulation of air, so avoid crowding your rose plantings.

Refrigerator Rolls a Convenience

An otherwise ordinary meal can become something special with the addition of a plate of hot rolls. You need no special recipe for refrigerator rolls. Adding extra fat and sugar will slow up the action of yeast and make it possible to have fresh rolls for two to three days from one dough.

Prepare the dough as usual, cover tightly with a plate, plastic covering or wet thin cloth and a lid. Place dough in your refrigerator, punch or cut down occasionally as the dough rises.

About two hours before baking time, cut off what you need for a pan of rolls and return the rest of the dough to the refrigerator for later use.

For a publication which gives many suggestions on baking bread and rolls at home, and also many recipes, ask us for Circular 658—Homemade Bread and Rolls.

Five Classes Compete---

High School Ticket Sale Opens for 10-Day Drive

By TONY WALCH

The annual activity ticket sale contest got under way Monday, Sept. 10, with a big sendoff by students from all five Smith-Cotton classes. The drive is scheduled to last ten days, closing at 1:23 p. m. Friday, Sept. 20.

This contest is of a competitive nature with all five of the school's classes competing against each other, each one trying to outsell the other, thereby receiving the privilege of crowning its chosen representative Activity Queen at the first home football game which will be played with St. Joseph Central, the night of Sept. 21.

The drive consists of selling tickets of two types; student activity and reserved seat football season tickets.

The student activity tickets will be sold only to high school and elementary school pupils. This ticket admits the student to 20 activities, including all home football and basketball games, all concerts and debates, and most, if not all track meets. Baseball games will not be included under this. The tickets may be bought on the installment plan, so as to enable all students to take advantage of this ticket.

The reserved seat football season tickets may be purchased by anyone and offer the buyer the best seats in the center section of the Jennie Jaynes Memorial Stadium.

The class whose ticket sales amount to the most per member, based on a percentage of its enrollment on Monday, Sept. 10 will be the winner and the one to crown its queen at the opening home football game.

The classes have elected the following as queen candidates: Senior — Tula Van Dyne; Jnior — Sharon Vedder; sophomore — Delores Brown; freshman — Mary Jones and eighth grade — Sheree Julin.

Any student who sells ten or more activity or season football tickets will receive an activity ticket free.

The amount received from the activity drive sales is divided proportionately among the various Smith-Cotton organizations: football, basketball, baseball, track, speech and so on. This is the one major means of subsidization of these various organizations and activities and their continued functioning depends largely upon the results of the sales. Realizing this, all Smith-Cotton students are working hard this week in the hope that this will be the most successful drive yet.

CHICKASHA, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Joe Stamper, 36, gave birth to a 17-pound girl at her home here last night, Dr. C. A. Bumgardner reported. The doctor said the birth was a "difficult one" but normal and that mother and child were doing well.

Cupid Is No Help

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police couldn't resist the plea from a Booneville, Ind., man to play Cupid for him and find the sweetheart he had jilted here 10 years ago—but they decided to let the old "flame" burn out.

The awakened suitor wrote Capt. Wayne Harbolt, chief of detectives, he can't go on living without his "precious Myrtle" and that he will find her if it takes the rest of his life.

But he won't get any help from Harbolt, who found Myrtle. She is now happily married, and has four children.

Talmadge Wins In Georgia's Demo Primary

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia's successor to veteran U.S. Sen. Walter F. George will be Herman E. Talmadge, 43-year-old staunch racial segregationist.

Talmadge rode to victory yesterday in the Democratic primary—equivalent to election in this state—over Melvin E. Thompson, whom he has twice defeated for governor, but never by such a smashing margin as in the Senate race.

Thompson, also a former governor, consoled himself that he polled more than 100,000 votes, or more than a fifth of the total.

Talmadge led in all of the counties heard from—147 of a total of 159—and had 378 of the decisive county units in his column to none for his rival. He had appealed in his campaign for an "overwhelming mandate" to carry his battle for "local self - determination"—and racial segregation — to the congress.

The popular vote count from 1,266 of the state's 1,798 precincts gave Talmadge 372,907, Thompson 105,907.

The 77-year-old George, now President Eisenhower's personal representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, first announced for renomination but changed his mind in the face of a Talmadge threat of a hot summer political fight.

Six of the state's 10 U.S. representatives had opposition but all won handily.

Sailor Bombs Fish

CARSON, N.D. (AP) — A sailor home on leave was fined $50 for using hand grenades to catch fish in the Cannonball River, the state game and fish department reported.

Mike Volk told a game warden he threw three grenades into the river. Only two went off. The area was still roped off while authorities pondered how to dispose of the third.

Kefauver Says Ike Cynical Of Farmers

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver accused President Eisenhower today of cynicism about Democratic efforts to maintain a prosperous family-farm economy in rural America.

"In case you missed the newspapers in the past day or two, I bring you the information that Gen. Eisenhower has come out against 'get rich quick' programs for the American farmer," the Democratic vice presidential candidate declared in a prepared address at the York County Fair.

He said Eisenhower made the comment at a press conference Tuesday. Kefauver said:

"Get rich quick! Let Mr. Eisenhower tell his banker friends he's against they're getting rich quick. Let him tell it to General Motors. Let him tell it to the well-heeled gentlemen he invites to those stag dinners at the White House.

"But don't let him tell one of the lowest income groups in the nation that he is opposed to their getting rich quick.

"I believe the farmers of America are ready to turn back to their true friends the Democrats."

In discussing the farm problem with a questioner at his news conference, Eisenhower said:

"I have said time and again there are two things here we must do: we must preserve our most precious asset, our soil and water resources, for future generations and, at the same time, we must work out a program under which the agricultural community can share properly in our unprecedented prosperity . . .

"Now, if we are going to do that, it is going to take some patience and some working out. And people who get impatient and believe in get-rich-quick cures may disagree . . .

"My program along this line has been restated time and again. I follow principle, and if that is what they want, that is what I will give . . ."

Police Discover Boy Who Acts Like Chicken

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Police discovered today a boy—apparently about 7—who they said has never bathed, cannot eat human food, who grunts like an animal and roosts like a chicken.

Sgt. Hugh Ross said the "pitiful little boy" was found in a hen house at Down Patrick, County Down, 15 miles from Belfast.

He has been taken to a home in Belfast and turned over to a team of physicians for examination.

Sgt. Ross said a group of children playing "hide and seek" ran into the hen house, which adjoins a cottage occupied by a widow and her two grown daughters.

The children found the boy perched on a roost with the hens and roosters.

"He cannot talk. He cannot walk and he cannot eat human food," the police sergeant said. "He has been reared like a chicken."

The mat of hair on his head did not appear ever to have been cut or washed. He had clawlike fingernails which probably never had been trimmed.

Time Bomb Is Fourth Blast on British Premises on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A time bomb started a fire today in a laundry building nearing completion in the British military hospital cantonment at Dekhelia on the south coast.

British authorities said the fire was put out quickly and no casualties resulted. The building was unoccupied.

The explosion was the fourth on British military premises on Cyprus in less than a week. The incidents were regarded as part of the long campaign of EOKA, Greek Cypriot underground, to oust the British and unite Cyprus with Greece.

Gov. Sir John Harding's three-week surrender offer to EOKA members ran out last midnight. He had said any rebel surrendering could escape all punishment by going to Greece and, if he remained on Cyprus, need face trial only if he had committed violence.

None surrendered. EOKA boasted of this in leaflets handed around yesterday.

Actor Is Injured

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Broderick Crawford suffered painful injuries yesterday in a fall from the back of a truck on a movie location, hospital attendants said. He was brought to St. John's Hospital here to remain overnight.

Shortage May Affect Planes For Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan Twining said today that if the trend toward shortage of technical manpower continues the Air Force may be compelled to use simpler planes and weapons which would be "less effective."

The Air Force chief of staff posed that possibility in an address prepared for the National Security Industrial Assn., made up of industries producing for national defense.

He contrasted the dearth of technicians in the United States with a vast reservoir of such manpower he said is being created in Russia.

The Air Force estimates, said Twining, that during the next five years "Soviet engineering higher educational establishments will graduate about 420,000 people — about triple our rate."

Twining, who made a visit to Russia earlier this summer, said, "We are not in a numbers race with the Soviet Union, either in the number of bombers, soldiers, submarines, or scientists." Then he added:

"Nevertheless, it is clear that if present trends continue unattended and uncorrected, our comparative technological status could eventually slip to second best."

He said his commanders all over the world complain of a shortage of skilled technicians.

"It is entirely possible that if we cannot get enough qualified men to operate and maintain the increasingly complex equipment of this jet-electronic-nuclear air age, the Air Force could be forced into a technological retreat," he said.

"We could be forced into designing, buying and using simpler equipment — easier to operate and maintain."

Nehru Denounces Western Plans For Using Suez

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today denounced Western plans to create a Suez Canal users' association.

He said he was "surprised" by British Prime Minister Eden's statement yesterday in the House of Commons and declared the "consequences would be very grave," because it closed the door to further negotiations with Egypt and implied an intention to impose a settlement.

Speaking in a Parliament session, Nehru said he had told Eden and President Eisenhower that Egypt's proposal to create a negotiating agency opened the way to a settlement.

"I have in the last few days communicated to Prime Minister Eden and President Eisenhower that the situation after the Menzies mission and the statement by Egypt accepting all international obligations and inviting negotiations opened the way for a settlement," Nehru said.

He added that India appealed to all concerned to accept this situation and seek the "path of peace" and that he hoped his appeal would "not be in vain."

Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies was the chief of the mission which presented to Egypt a plan, supported by 18 nations, for international operation of the canal. Egypt turned the plan down, and instead proposed the creation of a negotiating agency. The Egyptian offered no concrete plans for consideration.

Governor Lee Of Utah Seeks Job After Loss

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Gov. J. Bracken Lee says, 'If you know anybody who wants a man of my age for a job, why I'm open," now that his bid for a third term has been rejected.

But Lee, 57, says he "would not encourage" a move to re-elect him via a write-in campaign.

"I just don't think a thing like that would be successful," he said in an interview last night after his defeat in Utah's Republican primary Tuesday by political newcomer George D. Clyde.

"After all, this isn't the end of the world for any of us. It's just an election. Certainly I feel bad about it. I'm certain my friends feel just as bad if not worse."

Lee, considered a political maverick by party regulars in Utah for his criticism of foreign aid, the United Nations and the Eisenhower administration, lost to Clyde by more than 8,000 votes in a Republican gubernatorial primary that totaled more than 117,000.

Some postprimary talk has mentioned the possibility that Lee might make the race for governor anyway, on a write-in basis. But he says of such a move: "My feeling is that I don't want to participate in it. The people have spoken and I'm willing to abide."

Will he support Clyde?

"I see no reason why I shouldn't support him. Of course, I'm not going to campaign as hard as I would for myself because that's hard work. But if they want me, if they need me, if they feel I won't hurt them — sure I would."

Optimist Club Claims Credit for Stiffer Narcotics Penalties

TORONTO (AP)—The president of Optimist International said last night stiffer United States penalties for the illegal sale of narcotics are due in some part to efforts by the service club.

Lease Bussard of Frederick, Md., told a meeting of 11 Ontario clubs that Optimist International resolved at a meeting three years ago in Texas to fight for stern measures against the sale of drugs.

"A month ago, a bill was passed by the House and Senate invoking the death penalty. I feel Optimists can take part of the credit," he said.

Bussard said he believed Canadian clubs will soon continue the fight for similar legislation in this country. He is on a tour of American and Canadian Optimist Clubs.

Parents Delay Decision on Eye Removal for Son

ATLANTA (AP) — The divorced parents of a 5-year-old Atlanta boy who has lost one eye to cancer planned today to wait a few days before deciding whether to permit removal of the other eye.

Doctors said that malignancy which caused removal of Johnny Pair's left eye two years ago now has spread to the right eye.

His mother Mrs. Bessie Pair, 32, and her former husband Arnold Pair, 33, were told there is no assurance that removal of the other eye will save Johnny's life.

The mother and father met with a minister and eye specialists yesterday and discussed their son's future.

"They just old us the facts," Mrs. Pair said, "and they've leaving the decision up to us. We're going to wait a few days before deciding definitely. The doctors said a few days wouldn't make any difference."

Johnny has not been told of his worsening condition.

Mrs. Pair was granted custody of the boy when the Pairs were divorced.

The boy's case is similar to that of Mike Sibole, 4-year-old adopted son of a minister at Orlando, Fla. Mike's remaining good eye recently was removed to stop a malignancy.

Buying Room Furnishings Is Challenge

Today's junior miss is becoming increasingly aware that the appearance and upkeep of her room is just as important as her own personal good-looks.

Shopping for new room accessories and new color combinations can be a lot of fun and quite a challenge to a teen's future success as a homemaker.

Home furnishing in later years becomes comparatively simple if the young teen-ager picks up some of the tricks when she decorates her own "inner-sanctum." Because of the diversity of fabrics and inexpensive accessories on the market today, she can keep her expenses at a minimum and still maintain a high degree of good taste.

One of the most interesting materials, and one which affords a great many possibilities for the young girl with a creative flair, is a quilted vinyl plastic, with adhesive back, which is at once colorful and easy to apply.

Vanities, bureaus and chests as well as closet shelves can be covered with this self-adhesive quilted plastic.

Even walls are easily covered with this self-adhesive plastic and will rmain forever spotless and sparkling because dirt or dust marks can be immediately removed with a damp cloth. How bright and cheerful her hat and shoe boxes will look, too, when covered with solid colors or prints!

Pvt. Don R. Kellner Leaves for Europe

Pvt. Donnie R. Kellner, son of John W. Kellner, Warsaw, is scheduled to leave the U.S. Sept. 19 for Europe as part of Operation Gyroscope, the Army's unit rotation plan.

Kellner is a member of the 8th Infantry Division, which has been stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo., and is replacing the 9th Infantry Division in Germany.

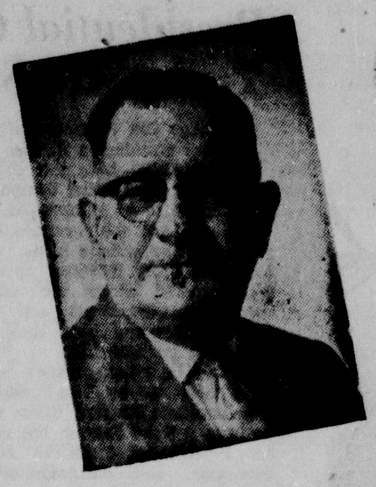

A machine gunner in Company F of the division's 5th Regiment, Kellner entered the Army in March, 1956.

He attended Warsaw High School.

No Cross Examination

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (AP)—Town Court Judge Louis Vucciarelli refused to convict a motorist charged with speeding on the basis of evidence provided by police radar alone.

"A machine cannot be cross-examined, and the defendant ought to be given the benefit of every doubt," he ruled, noting there was no corroborating testimony.

Curtain Call For Voter Registrations

People may become tired reading about it, but we just can't resist emphasizing Voter Registration in Sedalia.

A person who is not properly registered on the new three-card system in the County Clerk's office will not be eligible to vote in the important general election November 6.

Ever since the re-registration period first started back in June the importance of this matter has been stressed by both political parties, men's and women's organizations and about every agency under the sun. Not only has this been going on in Sedalia but elsewhere throughout the state and nation appeals have been made to REGISTER.

Thousands of Sedalians have responded, but there are a few thousand who haven't. Some have changed precinct and ward residence since they registered under the new system. These voters should report the change to the county clerk to obviate any inconvenience when they go to vote in November.

It is to this large group that another appeal is made. Further to accommodate these persons County Clerk Jim Green has arranged for registration service at five Sedalia schools: Mark Twain, Hubbard, Washington, Whittier and Horace Mann; and also at the County Clerk's office. No matter where you live you can register at any of these locations, although in the election you must vote in your proper precinct which may be determined by a map which will be published in this newspaper before the general election.

The present schoolhouse registration facilities will be open until 9:00 Thursday night, and from 8:30 Friday morning until 9:00 Friday night.

There is quite a bit of administrative work involved in setting up a three-card registration for each voter and making out the poll books in time for election. That is why it is necessary to get the bulk of laggard registrations checked-in at the schoolhouses now. This will prevent a last minute bottleneck and lessen the chances of mechanical errors which are bound to crop up no matter how efficient the system is.

Last call for registration at the schoolhouses Friday up until 9:00 p. m.

Ask your neighbor if he or she has registered. Encourage them to do so. But first be sure you, too, are properly registered.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Air Units Are Readied for Middle East

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam is quitely strengthening his military muscle in the Middle East in case Secretary of State Dulles' peace efforts should collapse. The Air Force is readying tactical squadrons from the Ninth Air Force (Shaw Field, S. C.) to send to the Middle East. Official story will be that the movement was planned six months ago and has nothing to do with the present crisis.

The Navy has already beefed up its sixth fleet, now has two attack carriers, one cruiser division, three destroyer squadrons, and several support ships in the Mediterranean. Army units have also been tipped off that they may be shipped to the Suez in case of war. Battle plans have been prepared by the joint Chiefs of Staff for any emergency.

Meanwhile, the Suez is sizzling. Suez pilots, who guide ships through the canal, are preparing to walk out Saturday. This would stop canal traffic, cut off valuable revenue to Egypt. Communist countries have offered to send river pilots to keep the canal open. It is such a tricky waterway, however, that it would take months to train them.

As a possible long-range solution, the West may build a parallel canal through Israel from the Mediterranean to the Gulf of Aqaba. Engineers believe it can be completed in two to three years.

Dictator Nasser isn't entirely the strong man he seems to be. He hasn't been dictator long enough to consolidate his hold in the country. Nasser is having trouble with the WAFD, followers of dethroned King Farouk who formerly were in power; also the Moslem Brotherhood. the right-wing fanatics who would like to gain power.

Even the starry-eyed university professors and students, who rabidly supported Nasser in the beginning, are becoming disillusioned. They have a feeling he has overpromised.

Nasser's most serious problem is economic. He has mortgaged Egypt's future Cotton crops for Red arms. This has left the country with no uncommitted resources for years to come.

Poultry Difficulties

The poultry industry is in a tizzy over the warning, first published in this column, that 26 diseases can be passed from poultry to people, yet only one-fourth of the chickens and turkeys eaten in this country are government inspected.

In an attempt to hush up the matter, James Gwin of the Poultry and Egg National Board has sent a confidential memo to poultry processors.

"Please keep in mind that a controversial issue brought out into the open could, under certain conditions, ultimately cause more harm than good," the memo advises.

"This is an inner industry matter," Gwin adds. "Please do not permit publication of it in any form."

Gwin believes the best way to handle the adverse publicity is "the less said the better." He acknowledges in his memo, however, that the poultry industry may be forced to fight back.

What worries him is that publicity about diseases spread by poultry might reduce sales. He also fears poultry processors might get slapped with a rigid Federal Inspection program, which would raise processing costs.

Though few housewives know it, there is no compulsory Federal Inspection but only a voluntary program for poultry products. This means most chickens that the housewives buy have not been government checked for sanitation and disease.

Court Candidate

Washington whirl — President Eisenhower is mulling over a list of names to fill the Supreme Court vacancy. Most surprising name on the list: ex-Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, a Democrat.

Despite denials, President Eisenhower formally accepted an invitation to address the Carpenters' convention next month. It was Carpenters' boss Maurice Hutcheson who withdrew the invitation. Reason: he was sore over Vice Presidents Nixon's renomination. The Justice Department is trying to hold up indictments in the Chicago tax scandal until after the election. Too many high Washington officials are involved, a reminder to the public that tax scandals didn't end with the Truman administration.

To 'Talk' Books

John J. Criscitiello, 26 years old, advertising manager of the Princeton University Press, starts out this month as an intellectual salesman to sell Western ideals to the other side of the world.

On a twelve week tour this young globe trotter, accompained by representatives from seven publishing houses and four university presses, will stop in Cairo, Egypt. They will talk with book sellers, businessmen, scholars and public officials. Their aim will be to put in the hands of the educated peoples of foreign countries books about the ideals of democracy and the way an average American family lives and what it reads.

The group calls itself the Information Book Export Group. It is a co-operative sales organization and believes by giving accurate and efficient book information about this country to Asia, Africa, Latin America, and Australia, much can be done to show that America has more to offer than the bulldozer or tractor sent to them for use in their fields.

In the part of the world where American prestige is tottering, it is the minds of the people which must be won.

Get That Diploma

Now that the school bells toll again, it is important for parents, guardians and educators to impress upon the high school students the necessity of that diploma and the completion of the high school course.

Two federal departments have started a drive to keep the teenagers in high school. James P. Mitchell, Secretary of Labor, says: "Those without at least a high school education are finding it increasingly difficult to compete with those who have graduated, particularly in the technological fields."

Harold C. Hunt, acting secretary of Health, Education and Welfare says: "Young people entering the armed forces or employment or taking on new responsibilities as citizens succeed better if they have completed their high school studies.

Work is plentiful these days but the need for the unskilled worker is growing less and less. The employer today asks: "What can you do to help my business?" Youth must have something to give -- a high school diploma is a good start. Now is the time to aim for it.

Guest Editorial—

MEXICO (Mo.) LEDGER: Move To Raise Driver's Age Limit. There is much talk and some preliminary action toward raising the age limit for drivers of motor cars in Missouri.

Audrain county's representative Charles Pulis was telling us recently that a mother approacher him urging that a bill be passed in this state raising the age limit for motor car drivers from 16 to 18 years.

State Senator John P. Barrett of St. Louis, is quoted as planning to introduce such a bill at the next session of the legislature. His plan would raise from 16 to 17 years.

In speaking of this the St. Louis Globe-Democrat comments editorially:

"Senator Barrett's bill should have the enthusiastic support of all thoughtful members of the community.

"While there are some youngsters who have a reasonable amount of maturity at age 16, the vast majority do not have. A motor vehicle is an easy machine to drive with the many new improvements, but the essential ingredient to safety is consideration. This is too frequently lacking in 16-year-olds.

"An automobile, as an instrument of potential death and destruction, requires maturity and a knowledge of the effects which reckless or thoughtless driving can cause. This comes only with age. It can scarcely be expected in most 16-year-olds.

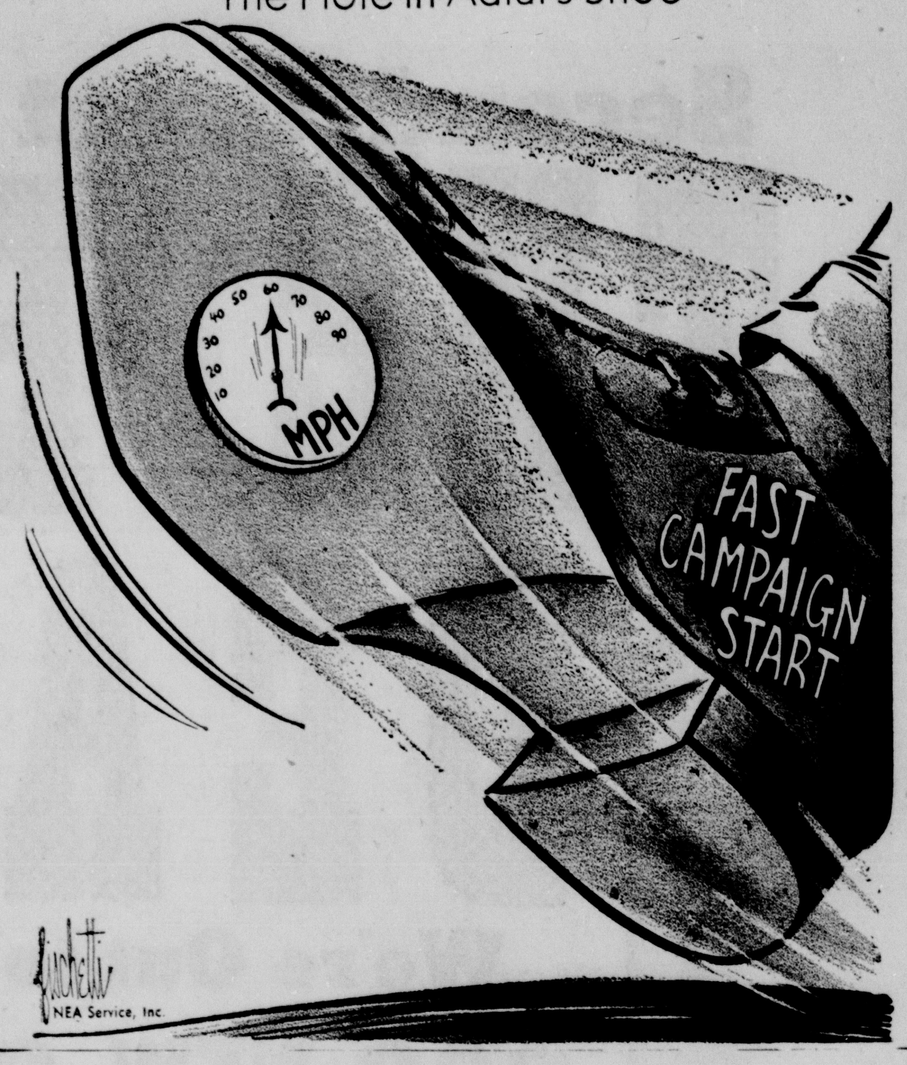

From comments on the subject the 17 year limit would be generally acceptable on the part of the public. The record of accidents and deaths on the highway and streets of cities speak for themselves in such arguments.

So Far, Question Is Academic—

Delicate Point Is Raised at Mansfield

By BEM PRICE
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers, Texas, has raised a point which lies at the heart of the school integration problem. What happens when there is open defiance of a federal court order?

So far the question has been academic, but in the case of Mansfield, Tex., it came close to being raised in concrete form.

A federal court ordered the Mansfield school board to stop discriminating against the admission of students on the basis of race. The practical effect of this order was to decree the admission of 12 Negro students to Mansfield High School.

When school opened, however, a mob gathered and threatened violence if any Negroes actually sought to enroll.

Shivers then sent six Texas Rangers to Mansfield to help maintain law and order, instructing them to transfer "any scholastics, white or colored, whose attendance or attempts to attend Mansfield High School would be reasonably calculated to incite violence."

In essence, the governor said that if violence threatened to accompany Negroes' entry to the school, they should be sent elsewhere. The Negroes dropped their attempt — at least temporarily.

Shivers denied this was defiance of the federal court, but added, "Should the resulting actions be construed as contempt of the federal court, I respectfully suggest that the charge be laid against the governor and not the local people."

So what happens? Nothing at the moment. Federal courts are blind until there is official notification of a violation. Until the interested parties — the Negroes' lawyer or the school board's — come before the court and inform it the nondiscrimination order is not being obeyed, the court will take no action.

But if the Negroes' or school board's attorney does appear, the court can issue a restraining order against interference with the performance of its original order. If this is violated too, then individuals may be jailed by U.S. marshals for contempt of court — but marshals are process servers primarily, not general law enforcers.

If there is continued defiance, the matter becomes quite delicate. Federal courts in themselves have no innate police powers.

Under the division of powers laid down in the Constitution, only the executive branch of the government can exercise force.

Thus, if there is open defiance of a federal court order, the responsibility for action lies with the President of the United States.

At a news conference last week President Eisenhower said he didn't think the federal government should intervene in the Mansfield case since law and order had been restored.

He omitted any reference to the more acute point, presumably because, like the court, he has had no official notification that the court's order is not being obeyed.

Eisenhower did observe, however, "when police power is executed habitually by . . . the federal government we are in a bad way. So until the states show their inability to grapple with this question properly, which they haven't yet . . . we'd better be careful about moving in and exercising police power."

Eisenhower had an excellent point. Russia and Red China exercise police power at the national level. So did Hitler and Mussolini.

Around at the Justice Department, though, the Mansfield case is under quiet discussion, and the point raised is: When must the federal government act to maintain the integrity of its courts and its own sovereignty?

Looking Backward . . .

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday afternoon, Sept. 11, a large barn at the Frank Smasal farm ten miles south of Sedalia at Spring Fork was destroyed by fire. It was formerly a dairy barn and contained a considerable quantity of hay and grain.

1931

Frank Herman Meier, Georgetown garageman, died as a result of an explosion of gasoline fumes in his shop that ignited his clothing.

1931

Principals of the grade schools were guests Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Crocker in an automobile trip to Bagnell Dam. A picnic lunch was served during the trip.

1931

Mrs. Frank S. Leach was chosen to be director of the Woman's Home Exposition to be presented in the Arena at St. Louis Oct. 10-18 in connection with fall shows there.

FORTY YEARS AGO

E. G. Cassidy and John McGrath completed plans for a large lake for duck hunting and fishing on the Donegal stock farm of 300 acres ten miles southwest of Sedalia, owned by Mr. Cassidy.

1916

Miss Lucy Bothwell left for her home at Cay City, Ill., after spending two months as guest of her uncle, John R. Bothwell at Bothwell Lodge, north of Sedalia.

1916

A new school building known as Mitchell School two miles west of Hughesville, was completed. It was modern in every respect, having a good-sized basement and furnace. Miss Anna Connor was teacher.

Your Child's Health—

Problem of Child Health Is Joint Responsibility

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The maintenance of good health and the prevention of disease is always a joint responsibility. The physician cannot do it alone, the patient cannot do it alone, and in the case of children, surely the child holds only a minor responsibility.

In this connection an interesting pamphlet has been published by the Health Information Foundation on how the nation can improve the health of its children.

It points out that 30 American states have established some kind of periodic physical examinations in the schools. The purpose of these examinations is to uncover ailments or defects which can be remedied.

That such a program is badly needed is shown by figures from Pennsylvania. In this state during the school year 1945-46 more than half (54 per cent) of the children examined were found to have some physical condition which needed remedial care.

Simply finding something is only a small part of the problem. In one state, for example, doctors discovered 37,000 children with eye trouble. By the time of the next school physical examination the parents of only 8,000 had taken the trouble to have something done. There were 29,000 children still without corrective measures.

It is interesting that in Pennsylvania (and quite probably in other states) the most common health impairments were diseased tonsils and defective vision although these were both outnumbered by dental defects.

It was also noteworthy that children living in rural areas or in towns of less than 1,000 residents tended to have more medical and dental defects than children in larger communities. Also, it seemed a general rule that children in larger families revealed more defects and less frequent correction of these defects than children in smaller families.

There are several conclusions which can be drawn from information which is now available.

First, it seems clear that when children are submitted to routine physical examinations in their schools many are found to have some physical shortcoming which had not been previously suspected.

Second, just informing the parents does not always produce the desired results. It is certainly true that the final responsibility for correction lies with the parents. Parents, therefore, should pay more attention to the information which is supplied to them through school physical examinations or other sources.

Another problem is to cultivate greater cooperation and understanding between parents, family physician or pediatricians and school physicians. Each knowing what the other is trying to do would certainly help.

One interesting feature of the Health Information Foundation is that its board of directors is made up almost entirely of officials of pharmaceutical manufacturing companies, most of whom are in competition with each other in their business lives. The fact that there is this kind of cooperation aimed at improving the general health is a feature of our civilization of which we can be proud.

3-Year-Old Gets Lost, Oiled, Hospitalized And Cleaned in 1 Day

WILMINGTON, Calif. (AP)—Johnny Durham, 3, got lost, oiled, hospitalized, checked and sacked in that order. Later he got cleaned.

His mother Mrs. Edna Durham had neighbors helping her search for the lost boy when someone heard him sobbing just behind the fence at the rear of the Durhams' yard. There he sat—stuck tight in which had apparently oozed from a three-inch deep puddle of oil, neighboring oil storage tanks.

At Wilmington Receiving Hospital, attendants put him in a cellophane bag and sent him home, where Mrs. Durham started the job of getting him clean.

Great Road Show Fades Out—

Presidential Campaign Trains Are Sidetracked

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Like the circus big-top, the Presidential campaign trains seem to be sidetracked.

The railroads, the reporters and voters at the whistle stops, will miss this every four-year Special which roared across the nation combining Chautauqua and the greatest surviving road show in American political life.

As this is written, there's hope of a short run by Vice-Presidential candidate Richard Nixon and perhaps a short tour on the rails for Presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson. But campaigning-by-train is on the way out.

The candidates themselves are probably glad that expanded air travel and television have replaced the ordeal of 15 or more speeches a day from the observation platform. Each had to have a local punch usually supplied by regional politicians, who just loved to hop on the train in advance of the stop and then appear with "the next President of the United States" in front of a hometown group at the depot.

For the railroad officials and crew, it was a mean job. The candidate usually was too long-winded and the train would not pull out of many a depot on time. Someone aboard the train was charged with giving some prearranged signal to the speaker to stop speaking so the train could get underway, but he didn't always stop. In 1952, while Presidential-candidate Eisenhower was whistle-stopping thru Michigan, the signal got mixed and the train pulled away while the candidate was still talking and the reporters had to run fast to hop aboard.

The press corps had its problems, too. Rare was the campaign special that boasted a bath except in the candidate's private car. In 1952, reporters accompanying President Truman in behalf of Adlai Stevenson managed baths in the high school gymnasium at Columbia Falls, Mont., while Mr. Truman visited local dignitaries.

Then, how to get shirts laundered? The laundry never caught up but nylon finally eased that problem.

But more importantly, his story had to be ready to drop at a local Western Union station in time to make deadlines. The press car was set-up like a newsroom minus a city editor.

It was Abraham Lincoln, the one-time railroad lawyer, who brought forth on this continent in 1860 the whistle stop tour that was to become a vital part of every presidential campaign from then on.

And it was Wendell Willkie who rolled up 30,000 miles of whistle-stopping along the rails to set a record that still stands.

There's been only one wreck. Thomas E. Dewey's train ran into another in the state of Washington in 1948 and 60 or more reporters (including me) were tousled around enough to keep a claim agent busy for months. Out of this the Castle Rock Survivors Association was created and Dewey at least made the Presidency of that. Almost every time he comes to Washington he stages, and pays for, a reunion.

Hatch Act Has Its Restrictions

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—About this time, every four years, two million Americans smart under Hatch Act restrictions on their participation in the political campaigns.

Not all federal workers are in Washington. In fact, only 10 per cent.

Of the 2,192,329 Uncle Sam civilian employees some 47,200 work in Missouri.

As serious politiking gets under way, the Civil Service employee begins to realize what he can and can not do. That is if he wants to keep his job.

There's a lot of confusion about what is not allowed under the Hatch Act, altho the Civil Service Commission has sent out the usual warnings.

He can at least vote as he chooses! Put a sticker on his auto, if he doesn't drive to work in that car. On the job he better not have a badge in his lapel. He can tell his neighbor what he thinks of Ike or Adlai, but he can't take part in any organized campaign. He can contribute voluntarily to a political organization, but not distribute material.

He can't be a candidate himself or use his auto to take voters to the polls. And he better not be caught campaigning.

The most severe penalty is removal from federal employment. The least is a 90-day suspension.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

One instrument which is out of tune can destroy the effect of a hundred-piece symphony orchestra. In fact, one string on one instrument can ruin the whole concert.

When all the instruments are in tune and when each musician is playing what he is supposed to play, the effect is one of harmony and unity. If you do not look at the stage, you cannot count the instruments in the orchestra when they are in tune.

One person who is out of tune with God and with his fellow men stands out like the one poorly tuned instrument in the orchestra.

A single "firebug" can burn down a whole town. A lone bandit can upset a whole community.

The instrument which is out of tune must not be played until it is retuned. It is better to be silent than to destroy the effect of the whole orchestra. The one who plays the instrument must make the adjustments. He cannot retune the whole orchestra nor can the conductor stop the whole concert to tune the one instrument.

We must retune ourselves when we are at variance with God and society. We must find ways and means of changing our thinking and acting. We cannot expect the world to stop while we change God and other people.

Agricultural Aid In Missouri

By MAURICE G. BOEHL
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Although sizable, the federal program of aid to agriculture isn't as well known as the federal aid to other efforts such as highway construction, hospital construction, or airports.

In Missouri, the federal government is spending a total of $790,500 in 1956 for agricultural aid. Of this $174,600 will be used for the Agricultural Research Service; $508,800 will go for federal grant payments; $70,600 is for the regional research fund; $36,500 for marketing research.

The State payments in 1957 will increase to $915,900. The Agricultural Research Service increases to $189,400. The Federal grant payments for 1957 are $604,900 statewide; $83,600 for regional research fund; $38,000 for marketing research.

Floriculture Show Awards At State Fair

Nineteen senior and one junior garden club comprised the exhibits at the Floriculture Exhibits on Garden Club Federation Day, at the Missouri State Fair. Cities and towns represented were Middletown, Marshall, Green Ridge, Jefferson City, Fortescue, Hardin, St. Joseph, and Sedalia. Judges for the event were nationally accredited judges of the Federated Garden Clubs. They were Mrs. Seareles, Mrs. William J. Hedley and Mrs. Walter E. Morris, all of St. Louis County. Chairman was Mrs. Al Schreiner.

In addition to the competitive exhibits, demonstrations of flower arrangement were enthusiastically received by 200 visitors who crowded the Floriculture Building. Mrs. Wilford Acker, Sedalia, demonstrated fresh flower arrangements, many in her home made pottery. Mrs. Claude G. Barthell, Jefferson City, demonstrated preservation of fresh flowers and their use in picture and free-standing arrangements. Mrs. Robert O. Powelson, St. Joseph, repeated her corsage demonstration by request.

The Hawthorne Garden Club of Jefferson City, was the grand sweepstakes winner for the club winning the most points.

Shower activity was confined to northern sections of the nation with some rain falling in New England.

President's Old Cadillac Gets Home

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A Cadillac convertible that transported three Presidents of the United States has found a permanent home in St. Petersburg.

Dr. Paul D. Wallace, an automobile hobbyist, bought the nine-seat car last week after the White House replaced it with a later model.

The car was used by Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower. It can attain top speed of 115 miles an hour. In 1952 it underwent an $8,000 rebuilding job.

Wallace said yesterday he plans to keep the car as a museum piece. He did not disclose the price he paid a Cadillac agency for the 1938 model.

Too Much for Too Little

CORRY, Pa. (AP) — It might not have happened if John Adams, of Roscoe, N.Y., hadn't been driving a miniature sports car over a narrow steel bridge near Corry.

But he was driving a miniature sports car as he and John Zawacki, of nearby Ridgway, approached the bridge from the opposite directions.

Zawacki figured his standard sized car and the small sports car could pass on the bridge with a few inches to spare. So did Adams.

Both were wrong. They got wedged together in the middle of the steel span.

Carmen Basilio Retrieves Crown From Johnny Saxton

He Scores TKO Over Defender In Ninth Round

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Carmen Basilio, apparently as tough and destructive as ever, wore the welterweight crown again today after annihilating Johnny Saxton "for the sweetest win of my life."

"This was the one I wanted to win more than any other," said the craggy-faced, 29-year-old Basilio after his technical knockout in 1:31 of the ninth round over the cocky, 26-year-old defending champion in War Memorial Auditorium last night.

"I beat him in Chicago and got robbed. This was my answer. If he wants to fight me again, I'm willing. I fight for money. I'll fight Ray Robinson too for the middleweight title if Saxton has had enough. I agreed to give Saxton a return fight and he can have it anywhere but in Chicago."

Even with his lopsided triumph last night, Carmen still is burning over the unanimous but controversial decision which Saxton scored over him in Chicago last March 14 for the title.

"I want the fight and I'll beat him the next time," said Saxton through swollen lips. A white bandage covered the left side of his mouth where nine stitches were required to sew up a wide long gash that had spurted blood during the one-sided fray.

"I fought his fight — not mine," the dethroned New Yorker said bitterly. "The booing of the crowd upset me. Instead of boxing him like I did the last time and like I planned to do again, I went out and slugged with him. I wanted to show those fans. Next time I'll fight for Johnny Saxton and win my way."

Gaunt and with his ribs showing through his taut skin, the 146¼-pound local pride took charge in the third round with a slashing body and head attack that had the sleek New Yorker bloody, reeling and helpless in the ninth round when referee Al Berl halted the massacre. Saxton had not been down, but he was heading for the canvas, so relentless was Basilio's furious assault.

Looking perfectly conditioned at 145¾, Saxton was only in contention for the first two rounds when he surprised the near capacity crowd of 8,546 and countless television viewers by meeting Basilio in midring and exchanging punches. He drew blood from Carmen's nose and the fans cheered the unexpected early fireworks from the usually backpedalling jabber.

In the third Basilio started to take his toll of the 7-5 favorite with his strength-sapping lefts and rights to the body and his switching jolts to the head. In the fourth, the rout was on. Saxton began to bleed from the mouth and near the end of the round, he was staggered by a long left and right to the jaw. The cool, poised Basilio was in complete command after that.

Basilio's share of the record Syracuse gross gate of $134,939 (net $117,067) and the $75,000 radio-TV pot was $37,662. Saxton, collecting 40 per cent to Basilio's 20, earned $75,324.

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Arlene C. Barker, 37, dodged traffic and gas pumps expertly as she attempted first, to halt the out-of-control, brakeless car she was driving in a station, and that failing, swerved across the street into a fire house.

When firemen, who had fled to safety, investigated the head - on crash, they found damage not too bad. Mrs. Barker and her two children escaped injury and her car was driveable, but the pumper truck had a crushed bumper.

Case and Mines of Sedalia Rate High—

Final Ban Johnson League Baseball Standings Released

The final standings of the 1956 baseball season for the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League were released by Stan Isle, Moberly, secretary of the league, which show several Sedalia players again placing among the honored.

Bobby Case and Larry Mines both again rated among the top. Case headed the stolen bases department with 26; in second place in the batting averages with .407; tied with Whitesides of Columbia with runs batted in, 25 each; fifth in runs scored, 26; second in hits with 37; tied with Snell of Boonville with doubles, eight each; tied with Meyer of Boonville in triples, four each.

Mines was fifth in batting with a .330; fourth in runs batted in with 24; tied for fourth on hits with James of Moberly, each having 35; tied four others for third place in doubles with seven each.

Johnny Higgins was tied for third with three other players in triples, each getting three. Ralph Fall was 11th in batting with a .296; and Charles Newman was 12th with a .293.

Elroy Burton was tops in pitching based on five game decisions. His season record was five wins, no losses for 1.000; Clyde Kublic was fourth with a record of 7-2 for a .778.

The Sedalia Bee Jays ended the season as the 1956 champions of the league, having won the second half play and then defeated the first half winners, the Brookfield Bombers, in the play-off. Sedalia took three straight games from Brookfield in the best-of-five play-off, 9-3, 7-4 and 10-5.

Fishing a Collegiate Sport?

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Fred Russell, sports editor of the Nashville Banner, predicts fishing will become a competitive sport among Southern colleges and high schools.

"There will be dual meets and tournaments," predicts Russell. "Youngsters will want to inject a little zing into what's the world's most popular outdoor recreation for older people. Likliest contests would feature bait and fly casting, with a basic rivalry in scoring for the most fish caught and the biggest fish caught. Cheer leaders would be outlawed, of course."

Tackle Irv Schexnayder is a welcome addition to the Tulane football team. He hails from Welcome, La.

Kansas City Athletics Defeat Yankees 7-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas City Athletics finally turned back the New York Yankees at Kansas City and a pair of Yankee castoffs played a leading part.

One of the castoffs, rookie Wally Burnette, pitched six scoreless innings in relief, and the other, veteran first baseman Eddie Robinson, drove in four runs. After nine straight defeats, the A's came up with a 7-4 victory last night.

The St. Louis Cardinals had an open date before opening a series with the Giants in New York tonight.

Beagle Hound 'Fun Trial' On September 16

The Missouri Golden Valley Beagle Club will hold a "fun trial" Sunday, Sept. 16th on the clubs running grounds north of Calhoun. The measuring will be held between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m.

The hounds will be run in combined classes, a 13-inch class and a 15-inch class. The trial will be run in braces.

Judges of the trial will be Ed Fischer and Ben S. Markway, of Jefferson City.

To encourage Beagle Hound owners to participate the entry fee has been set at $1 per hound. All persons owning registered Beagles are invited to participate whether or not they are a member of the Club. The public is also invited to see the trial and follow the dogs.

Trophies will be awarded the first place winners and ribbons to the next four winners of each division.

Markers will be placed so those desiring to go to the running grounds can locate it easier. One route is out of Calhoun north on Route J, turn left at the sign. Another route is turning off of Highway No. 2 and turning south on Route J then turn right at the marker.

The Golden Valley Beagle Club was organized only a few months ago and has gained both in membership and as an active club for Beagle Hound owners.

Three Inside Jobs

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—It's a rarity to see an inside the park homer these days. But three in one night caused the fans here to rub their eyes in disbelief.

The feat occurred in a twilight double header between the Indianapolis Indians and the Minneapolis Millers of the American Assn.

All three round trippers were hit by the Indians. Bill Harrell smacked one in the first contest. Dave Pope and Larry Raines did the trick in the second game.

Mickey Mantle, pressing himself into a slump while trying to keep pace with Babe Ruth's record home run pace, now is in danger of losing the American League batting and runs-batted-in lead.

The young New York Yankee slugger, with only five hits in 10 September games, now has a .352 batting average with 118 RBI. Boston's Ted Williams, a four-time bat champ, is up to .349 and Detroit's Al Kaline, last year's batting king, has 116 runs batted in.

Williams, however, needs 53 more at bats to qualify with the minimum requirement of 400. He has 16 games to go — needing an average of a little more than three at bats at game.

Mantle, who hasn't hit a home run since socking his 47th August 31, now is six behind Ruth's terrific 1927 pace through 139 games.

Braves Refute Claim They Would Wilt

BROOKLYN (AP) — In one ball game, probably the biggest one of the year for Milwaukee, the Braves shoved the charge down the throats of their critics who had maintained the league leaders would wilt with the mounting pressue.

If ever there was a "pressure" game, it was yesterday's which the Braves won from the Dodgers 8-7 after a string of misfortunes that would have discouraged another club.

It was a game that could have been lost several times and in several ways, yet the Braves fought back after each disappointment. They squared the vital series at one victory apiece and left Brooklyn exactly the way they came . . . with a one-game lead over the Dodgers.

No wonder Joe Adcock, one of Milwaukee's stars, sighed in the clubhouse after the game:

"It was the toughest game I ever played in my life; and the most important we ever won."

No wonder Danny O'Connell, another star yesterday after it looked as if he might be the goat, looked around defiantly at the visiting newspapermen and shouted:

"Who's choking up now?"

It was a tense, nerve-wracking game from start to finish.

In the first inning Brooklyn batters teed off on Braves pitching ace Lew Budette for four hits and a 3-0 lead.

With Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's 23-game winner, on the mound, Milwaukee's task of overhauling the Dodgers looked as slim. But the Braves stormed back with a rousing batting attack to route the league's leading hurler in the second inning and forge in front 4-3.

After Brooklyn came back to knot the score at 4-4 on Roy Campanella's 18th homer, the two top contenders battled on even terms until the sixth when Adcock put the Braves in front again 6-4 with his 37th homer. Milwaukee added another run in the seventh on Del Crandall's 15th homer.

Gene Conley, who had pitched splendidly after relieving Burdette in the first, fell apart suddenly and was derricked after yielding three straight hits, good for one run, without getting a man out in the Dodgers' seventh. At this point, Crandall came through with a perfect pickoff throw on a missed bunt attempt to ease the tension. But a walk, a hit batter and O'Connell's muff of Sandy Amoros' routine grounder produced two more runs and the score was tied at 7-7.

Here was another time for the Braves to yield to the pressure. Instead, they came back in the eighth to move in front again.

Now it was the ninth. Ray Crone, the Braves' fifth pitcher, retired the first two batters but Jackie Robinson kept the Dodgers' hopes alive with a single. Amoros, with a 2-2 count, smashed a hard grounder to the right of second base. O'Connell darted to his right and made a spectacular backhanded stop of the ball. He flipped to shortstop Felix Mantilla, while off balance, to nip Robinson at second for the game-ending out.

Indianapolis, Omaha Win Games in Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's an unfortunate circumstance that Indianapolis and Omaha couldn't have met in the American Assn., semifinal playoffs Wednesday night.

The champion Indians romped to a 4-0 triumph over Minneapolis behind Dick Tomanek's five-hitter and squared their best-of-7 series at one game apiece. Omaha crushed the runner-up Denver Bears under a 28-hit barrage that spelled a 22-3 victory for the Cardinals, their second straight in their playoff series.

Minneapolis remains at Indianapolis for the third game of their series tonight, while the other semifinalists move to Omaha.

Hawaii, US Teams Meet for Title Game In Global Series

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hawaii and the United States meet tonight in Milwaukee County Stadium for the title in the 1956 Global World Series of non-pro baseball. The same teams were finalists in the first series last year with the U.S. taking the crown.

The Red Sox gained the championship round last night by turning back Japan, 9-3, on the five hit pitching of John Sardinha. It was the second straight triumph for Hawaii over the Japanese.

Each team will take one defeat into the final game. Hawaii suffered its only loss of the tournament last Saturday when beaten by the U.S., 5-3. The U.S. champions were topped by Japan, 6-3, last Monday.

Bank Examiners Set Off Burglar Alarm

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Police came on the double when the burglar alarm sounded in the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. here.

Bursting in, they found a group of strange men sitting around in their shirt sleeves. Turned out they were strangers, at that—bank examiners from North Carolina.

It was Defenders' Day, a Maryland holiday honoring the defense of Fort McHenry in the War of 1812.

Mrs. Mildred Hess, secretary and treasurer of the association, had let the examiners in with a key, and gone home for the holiday. She had neglected to tell them about the burglar alarm.

Somehow one of them touched the wrong piece of equipment and that did it.

Man Admits Taking Material for Home

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — When Richard W. Spanjers, 20, Minneapolis, was arrested officers said they found new casement windows, valued at $240 and a two 100-pound kegs of nails in his car.

Deputy Lary McMullen eaid Spanjers admitted taking building material and furnishings from new suburban housing developments because he and his 16-year-old wife wanted to build a home of their own.

Spanjers was charged with second degree grand larceny.

REHABILITATION: As part of federal youth correction program, these young offenders learn welding for future life.

Federal Youth Correction Act Untwists Criminals

By KENNETH GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The 19-year-old, half man, half boy sat scowling in front of the federal parole board official.

"How long before I can get out of here?" he asked belligerently.

"That depends on your progress," came the straight answer.

"Under this set-up you have to earn your way out and prove you can get along in society."

This is a typical question, but it's a relatively new answer. It illustrates a fresh tack Uncle Sam is now taking with scores of federal law breakers who wear grown-up clothes but behave like children.

And this realistic attitude, mixed with a large dose of diagnosis, means the nation is taking a step towards solving one of its most difficult problems — dealing with dleinquents short of adulthood but beyond the juvenile age range.

Today many of these young men between 18 and 22 are learning to face the responsibilities of adults under a program laid out by the Federal Youth Correction Act of 1950.

After two and a half years of actual operation it's beginning to prove that the twisted lives of young criminals can be unbent.

"Our function is to understand the offender and his problems in a manner that is socially acceptable," says George J. Reed, chairman of the Youth Correction Division of the U. S. Board of Parole.

"Our program neither assures a 'soft' nor a 'tough' approach, but one of firm, consistent understanding."

In a nutshell this approach requires the dleinquent to shape up or stay in an institution. The one thing he can't do is sit out his sentence without making a genuine effort to improve.

Under the Youth Act judges may place full responsibility for a young offender's treatment and rehabilitation on the Youth Division of the Board of Parole and the U. S. Bureau of Prisons.

"We must diagnose his case, plan and carry through treatment and make recommendations as to his release," explains James V. Bennett, U. S. Bureau of Prisons Director. "This is certainly a pretty large order and one we approach with the utmost seriousness."

Offenders are generally first sent to the Federal Correction Institution in Ashland, Ky., for preliminary study to determine what got them into their difficulties and what ought to be done about it.

This is one of six institutions that have been specially set aside for the youth program. The others are at Englewood, Colo.; Chillicothe, Ohio; El Reno, Okla.; the National Training School in Washington, D. C., and the Natural Bridge Camp in Virginia.

To date, only youths committed from districts in the eastern part of the U. S. come in under the new program. By the first of the year, however, it's hoped that facilities will be available to include the rest of the country.

Results so far indicate that this more individual and flexible approach is paying off.

At last report, 756 youths had been sentenced under the Act since it got rolling. In that two and a half year period 205 persons have been released on parole. And by the end of the year it is expected that the parole rate will reach 30 to 40 per month.

So far the average length of institutional stay has been 10 months for the youth offender, as compared to 15.8 for the average offenders who missed the program.

Of the 204 young men paroled, only 34 committed violations as of last May. This leads Reed to comment:

"When we examine the type person with whom we are dealing, we would normally expect a higher than average number of violators from this group. This is a very difficult but challenging age group and one that is responsible for most of the crimes committed in the U. S."

Bake English Muffins On a Griddle

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Turn out a batch of English muffins in your own kitchen and you'll swell with pride. When we baked these muffins recently, we couldn't resist eating some of them hot off the griddle. Slathered with butter and homemade preserves, they were mighty satisfying.

When you split these muffins, do so with a fork—using the angel-food cake technique. You spoil their texture if you cut them with a knife.

These muffins are a little richer and more tender than store-bought English muffins. One reason for this is the difference in the flour used commercially and that used in home kitchens.

Know your griddle when you bake these muffins. If it is too hot, the crusts may have a wrinkled look. Wrinkling also results if the dough has stood too long and become over-fermented.

When you cut out the muffins, leave as little space as possible between rounds. Then pull the bits of leftover dough together and pat or roll out again and out. If you knead the scraps together, the corn meal on the bottom of the dough will work itself into the muffins proper.

COOK'S PRIDE, homemade English muffins baked on a griddle.

ENGLISH MUFFINS

Ingredients: 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, 1 cup warm (110 to 115 degrees) water, 1 package active dry yeast, 6 cups sifted flour, white or yellow cornmeal.

Method: Scald milk by heating in the top of a double boiler over simmering water until a film appears over the top of the milk. Stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Put warm water into a large bowl: sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture. Add about half of the flour; beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour. Turn out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; brush with a little extra melted shortening. Cover. Let rise in a warm place (free from draft) until doubled in bulk—about one hour. Punch down dough; divide in half. Sprinkle a board heavily with cornmeal; roll out one-half of the dough on the cornmeal-sprinkled board so it is about ¼-inch thick. Cut out rounds with a 3-inch cookie cutter. Roll out and cut the other piece of dough the same way. Cover. Let cut-out muffins rest on board about 30 minutes. Place on slightly greased medium-hot griddle, cornmeal coated side down. Bake until bottom is well browned, about 15 minutes; turn and bake other side about 15 minutes longer. If possible, use two large griddles so most of the muffins can be baked at one time.

Note: If desired, a cake of compressed yeast may be substituted for the package of active dry yeast called for in the recipe. Use lukewarm (80 to 85 degrees) water for softening the compressed yeast.

St Louis Police Find Man in Ice House

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police reported they pinned down their man cold today in an ice house investigation.

Patrolman Russell Carter of suburban St. John decided to question two men he saw in front of the place. He found only one when he arrived at the building, a man who identified himself as Jack T. Phillips, 22.

Sgt. James Graves of the St. Louis County police joined in the search for the second man, nowhere to be seen. Presently a voice was heard from inside the ice house:

"Can I come out?"

As the two policemen stood by, a thoroughly chilled man, his teeth chattering, slid down the chute of the coin-operated ice house.

Pear Cobbler With the True Flavor

HOMEY DESSERT — Cobbler of fresh Bartlett pears and mincemeat.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Serve this fresh pear cobbler the moment it comes out of the oven. Dish it into bowls and pass the cream — light or heavy. Now spoon into that wonderful combination of hot fragrant fruit and cool accompaniment. Savor the delicate true pear flavor that heat seems to bring forth.

All our tasters agreed with us that this is a homey and delicious dessert. It's a pleasant reminder of orchards, harvest time and old-fashioned preserve kettles giving their spicy sweet scent. That's because in the fruit layer of the cobbler, fresh Bartlett pears are combined with mincemeat and brown sugar, and the biscuit topping boasts more brown sugar plus cinnamon.

We served this Pear Cobbler after a supper whose main course, was thinly sliced baked ham, deviled eggs, crisp green romaine, cucumbers in a dressing and hot buttered toast; it made a just-right ending. But it is equally good at the end of a more robust dinner.

Spicy Fresh Pear Cobbler

Ingredients: 1 cup biscuit mix, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, ¼ cup milk, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine (soft), 2 tablespoons light brown sugar, ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon. Spicy Pear Layer.

Method: Stir biscuit mix and sugar together. Cut in 1 tablespoon butter with pastry blender until particles are tiny. Stir in milk. Form into ball and knead gently on prepared pastry cloth. Roll out into a rectangle about 6 by 8 inches and about ¼-inch thick. Spread dough with 1 tablespoon soft butter; sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Roll up tightly lengthwise; cut into 8 rolls. Place rolls around outside of pie plate filled with Spice Pear Layer; press down to flatten slightly. Spread tops with 1 tablespoon melted butter remaining from pears. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 35 to 45 minutes or until rolls are baked through and pears are tender—35 to 45 minutes. About 10 minutes before cobbler has finished baking, and syrup over fruit is about to boil up heavily, place a square of aluminum foil on the oven rack under the cobbler to save any syrup dripping over on oven floor. Serve hot with light or heavy cream. Makes 8 servings.

Spicy Pear Layer

Ingredients: 3 tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons light brown sugar, 5 medium-sized fresh (ripe but firm) Bartlett pears, ½ cup moist mincemeat, 1 tablespoon lemon

Method: Stir flour and brown juice, ¼ cup butter or margarine (melted).

sugar together in a large mixing bowl. Peel pears; halve and core. Cut each pear half into 6 to 8 lengthwise slices into flour-sugar mixture. Add mincemeat and lemon juice; mix lightly. Turn pear mixture into heat-resistant glass pie plate (inside dimensions 10½ by 1¼ inches deep). Pour melted butter or margarine over pear mixture, reserving about 1 tablespoonful for spreading over roll topping.

Teaming Pears and Mincemeat

There are other good ways to team pears and mincemeat. Here are a few of them.

1. A fresh pear pie with mincemeat added is a flavor delight, but be sure to serve hot.

2. Broiled Bartlett pears are a fine poultry or meat accompaniment; fill their cavities with piping hot mincemeat.

3. Bake a batch of mincemeat muffins. Serve with a fresh Bartlett pear salad for lunch. For the salad use crips greens and cream-style cottage cheese plus the pears.

Moslems Give Food to Poor In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP)—Hundreds of street waifs and widows receive their daily bread in Jerusalem today because charity ranks with holy war among Moslem virtues.

A free soup-kitchen set up over 400 years ago as an act of atonement by a Turkish conquerer following a bloody invasion of Palestine still doles food to the city's poor.

The Ottoman Turkish Conquerer Sultan Selim engaged in a terrible slaughter when he marched into Israel in the 15th century. But after his conquest, he sought to atone for the bloodshed by acts of charity in Jerusalem. His wife Sultana Khasgieh joined him in his project.

They endowed the "tekia Khasgieh," as the kitchen is called, using funds from a tax on several Turkish villages which the Sultan controlled.

The "tekia" opens its doors regularly at 11 a.m. The long line of the poor file into a room where Sheikh Jamil Younes Husseini doles out nutritious wheat soup which is the "tekia's" regular fare.

Moslem sheikhs in charge of the "tekia" say this daily act of charity has been carried out continuously since the time of Sultan Selim except for a few weeks during World War I.

Grain was so scarce then that none was left for the poor. After a time, however, the general of the Turkish army in Jerusalem diverted enough supplies from his troops to allow the kitchen to resume its work.

Although little known to the Western world, the "tekia" is a common institution in Islamic countries and has been ever since the Prophet Mohamed listed almsgiving as one of the pillars of the Moslem faith. There is a large "tekia" in nearby Hebron, and they are found in the larger Moslem centers like Damascus and Cairo.

Indian Medicine Man Plays Unique Role Helping U. S. Doctors and Nurses

By KENNETH GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Attention, pale faces! You can keep your fancy head shrinkers.

As for the American Indian, he'll put his libido in the hands of a good, old medicine man. And why not?

Red men down on the reservation are getting their own brand of psychiatric treatment these days. Instead of a couch, most of them receive a "sing." It's a drawn-out rock-an'-roll Indian ritual.

This approach may not stack up favorably with Freudian followers, but it's giving thousands of ill Indians the confidence to take the white man's modern medicine.

Today tribal medicine men are playing a unique role helping Uncle Sam's doctors and nurses restore health to Indians.

"Our medical officers who provide care for the Indians recognize the medicine man as a spiritual leader among his people," says Dr. James R. Shaw, Chief of the Division of Indian Health of the U.S. Public Health Service. "For this reason they often work in close cooperation with tribal medicine men on the reservation."

Here's how another official puts it: "Because Indians have confidence in the medicine man, he's able to give them the psychological support they need to accept modern medicine and go to hospitals."

This assistance of the ancient medicine man will do much to assure the success of a stepped up program by the federal government to bring the Indian back to health, say experts.

A year ago medical care for Indians was transferred from the Bureau of Indian Affairs at the Interior Department to the Public Health Service.

With an increase in funds approved by Congress, a full-scale effort is now under way to provide health service to 315,000 Indians living on about 250 reservations in 24 states.

In the last year 100 more physicians and dentists and 450 health workers have been assigned to treat Indians. And funds are now available to complete construction of four new Indian hospitals, two of which will replace old facilities.

At present, the Division of Indian Health operates 56 hospitals, including five large hospitals for general and tuberculosis patients, and four tuberculosis sanitariums.

Eight of the hospitals are in Alaska where the U.S. gives health services to 35,000 natives of that territory.

Indians can also go to 20 health centers, 14 Indian boarding school infirmaries, nearly 100 field health stations and field clinics at more than 200 locations.

Indian health, however, is still deplorable. The average age at death is 37, compared to 62 for the non-Indian population. And the rate of tuberculosis is nine times greater than among white men.

One of the biggest jobs is educating the Indians to take advantage of modern medical facilities. That's where the medicine man has proved so valuable.

With a few exceptions, he has given his brothers the cue to take the white man's cures. This often happens when the medicine man himself goes to a hospital for treatment.

Most reservation Indians still place great trust in the medicine man's so-called "sing." This is a ceremony which can last from two to nine days and it consists of a staggering number of ancient, complex songs, dances and rituals.

Depending on the length of this psychiatric type ceremony which builds confidence, singers receive $5 to $500 or an equal sum in goods for their services.

In some cases Indians go to hospitals as a second best choice because they can't meet this expense.

"During the olden days Indians didn't have to pay much for singers," a Navajo medicine man told a group of doctors recently. "But now everything is expensive, just as it is for you doctors who charge higher fees than you used to."

After the business session, the group adjourned for lunch, which was served in the school lunch room by the Green Ridge Rebekahs.

The afternoon session was devoted mainly to business. The president, Mrs. Helen Payne, presented an interesting address. Judy Miller and Elaine Brown, both of Green Ridge, played two piano duet selections.

A three-course ham banquet was served at the Green Ridge Presbyterian Church at six o'clock by the Martha and Esther circles to 87 guests.

Group singing was enjoyed at the evening session and a memorial ceremony was presented by the Lincoln Rebekah Lodge for deceased members.

For entertainment, E. H. Boltz, Green Ridge Lodge, painted a picture of "The Little Brown Church in the Wildwood," while a mixed quartet sang the song.

The Green Ridge drill team, composed of 16 women in white formal dresses and 16 men wearing dark trousers, white shirts and black ties, performed a floor drill, during which they formed a number of letters and emblems of the order.

Grand Master A. L. Wholf, Kansas City, presented the address of the evening.

Mrs. Sybil Cox installed the following new officers, with Venita Disch acting as marshal: president, Mrs. Kathrine Spillers, Sedalia; first vice-president, Walter Less, California; second vice-president, Mrs. Jean Wharton, Holden; third vice-president, Henry Scudder, Jr., Marshall; secretary, Mrs. Marvelee Rumsey, Sedalia; treasurer, Mrs. Mabel McClammer, Fayette; conductor, Mrs. Wilhelmina Scott, Boonville; marshal, J. Less, California; guardian, Delpha Kreisler; color bearer, Henry Disch, Carrollton; song leader, Mrs. Helen McNew, Green Ridge; chaplain, Mrs. Myrtle Snider, Sedalia; musician, Ethel Ecton, Slater, and messenger, Linville Doan, Green Ridge.

The Central Missouri Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will hold the 1957 meeting in Sedalia.

About 150 persons attended the evening meeting.

Named to Post On Katy Board

Election of John G. Peterson, former Sedalian, as secretary and Karl O. Jansson as treasurer of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co. at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday was announced by Donald V. Fraser, president.

The board authorized a divided payment of 50 cents per share on the seven per cent cumulative preferred stock of the company, payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 21.

The newly-elected officers succeed Arthur M. Jacobs who retired Sept. 1 as secretary-treasurer of the company after 49 years of Katy service. They had been serving as assistant secretary and assistant treasurer, respectively. J. T. Stephenson, comptroller of the company, was also elected assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

Peterson is a native of Sedalia, Mo., and has been in Katy employment more than 30 years. He received his formal schooling in Sedalia, Parsons, Kansas, and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. After serving in various clerical and secretarial positions in the Katy's operating, personnel and executive departments, he was appointed assistant secretary of the company in 1946.

A veteran of World War II, Peterson saw service in North Africa in the finance department of the Army.

Civil Aeronautics Chief Says Traffic Control Is Inadequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — James T. Pyle, acting civil aeronautics administrator, said today the airways traffic control system now in operation is inadequate although it is "a good and a safe system."

Pyle told a House Commerce subcommittee the system handles far more air traffic than any other in the world, but he added:

"Under the existing conditions it is not adequate to meet all the demands placed upon it without imposing extensive delays on the users."

Pyle said the system was adequate until the military air power expansion following the Korean War, and an unprecedented increase in airline and business aircraft operations.

The committee, headed by Rep. Harris (D-Ark), is inquiring into air space use problems in view of the June 30 airliner collision over Grand Canyon, Ariz., in which 128 persons died.

Station Break

VALLEY, Neb. (AP) — A couple pulled their car into a gas station here, had the tank filled after which the car drove off.

The driver later recounted how 10 miles away, his eyes fixed firmly on the road, he asked his wife to light a cigaret for him. No answer. He took his eyes from the road long enough for a side glance at his wife. No wife. He returned to the gas station to pick her up.

US Will Push New Suez Plan

Not to Resort to Shooting; Egypt Warns Against Its Use

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States will push ahead with plans for a Suez Canal shippers' association despite Egypt's warning that implementation of the plan "means war."

At the same time Dulles stated this government does not intend to "shoot its way through" he canal if Egypt blocks the way.

Not to Risk War

Rather than risk war in the Middle East, he said, the United States is ready to send its shipping around the base of Africa, avoiding the waterway seized by Egypt July 26 in a nationalization move.

American loans to European countries would be considered, he announced, to help them buy Western Hemisphere oil if Mideast shipments are disrupted.

Dulles spoke out firmly at a jam-packed news conference a few minutes after receiving an urgent message from the Egyptian government bitterly assailing the new plan, which is sponsored by the Western Big Three.

Advises US to Drop Scheme

"If the United States desires war, then she may support the scheme, but if her desire is to work for a peaceful solution, the scheme has to be abandoned."

The plan which Egypt opposes sto strongly would line up the United States, Britain and France in a Suez Canal users' association. This association would seek to send ships, guided by non-Egyptian pilots, through the canal. Other countries using the canal have been asked to join the enterprise.

Dulles is understood to have offered it as a stop-gap move until diplomacy settles the bitter dispute with Egypt over who is to operate the strategic waterway.

It represents "an honest effort," to find a peaceful solution acceptable to all sides, he said, and to denounce it as an effort to impose an alien regime on Egypt is "fantastic."

Interference Would Be Violation

In Egypt "sought to interfere," with the new association, it would be a violation of its promise to keep the canal open to all ships, the secretary said. Egypt has vowed to uphold terms of an 1888 convention which guarantees access to the waterway.

"In this event, the parties to or beneficiaries of the convention would, in or opinion, be free to take steps to assure their rights through the United Nations or through other action appropriate to the circumstance," Dulles went on.

He refused to spell out precisely what he meant by "other action," saying it depended on the circumstances at the time.

Commons Gives Eden Faith Vote

Briton Predicts Nasser to Next Attack Israel

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Prime Minister Eden predicted tonight Egypt's President Nasser will attack Israel next if he gets away with seizure of the Suez Canal. Eden hinted, Britain would go to Israel's rescue with arms if necessary.

Eden told the House of Commons there was no doubt that an attack on Israel would be the next step for a triumphing Nasser.

Refuses No-Force Promise

The House gave Eden a 319-248 vote of confidence on his Suez policies after he refused to promise not to use force if necessary in the crisis and said he would resort to the UN if Egypt violated treaty rights.

Before the final vote of confidence his supporters batted down a Labor motion of censure 321-251.

In the closing minutes of the debate Eden asked:

"What will be the next step if Col. Nasser is allowed to succeed in the action he has taken?"

He added: "I have no doubt what it will be and I do not think the House has—Israel. Nasser called it 'the stooge of imperialism' in the very speech in which he nationalized the canal."

War Warning by Egypt

The voting came hours after Egypt told the Western powers their plan to take over control of Suez traffic, if carried through—will flash off a new war.

The tense House brushed aside the Egyptian contention that setting up a canal users' association to run ships through it "means war."

The note stiffened the prime minister's campaign to keep the canal out of Nasser's sole control despite Laborite cries of "gunboat diplomacy."

There were similar votes of confidence in the House of Lords.

Eden mentioned the possibility of asking U.N. action after Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell demanded to know whether the British government intended to shoot its way through the canal.

West Would Demand UN Action

The Prime Minister said if Egypt barred the canal to any ship from the proposed users' association, the western powers would demand security council action.

Barring a ship would violate the Suez Convention of 1888 on free access to the canal, Eden said.

The plans announced for the users' association Wednesday hinted the first test of President Nasser's intentions might be to try sending a ship with fully qualified pilot through the canal.

Fifteen other countries have been invited to join the group. With the Western Big Three, they represent 90 per cent of the canal shipping traffic.

Hillelson Says Fourth District Being Denied A Voice in Congress

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Sept. 13 (AP)—The 4th District "is being denied a voice" in Congress, Jeffrey P. Hillelson, Republican nominee for congressman said tonight.

"This district has not been represented on more than one out of every four roll calls in the last two years," Hillelson told the Women's Federated Republican Club of Johnson County.

He said that last July, incumbent Rep. George Christopher, a Democrat, "made quite a speech denouncing a United States pension program for the nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

"I don't blame him at all for denouncing such a program." Hillelson, a former congressman, said. "I do blame him for failure to check and learn that there is no such program and no such program is even considered.

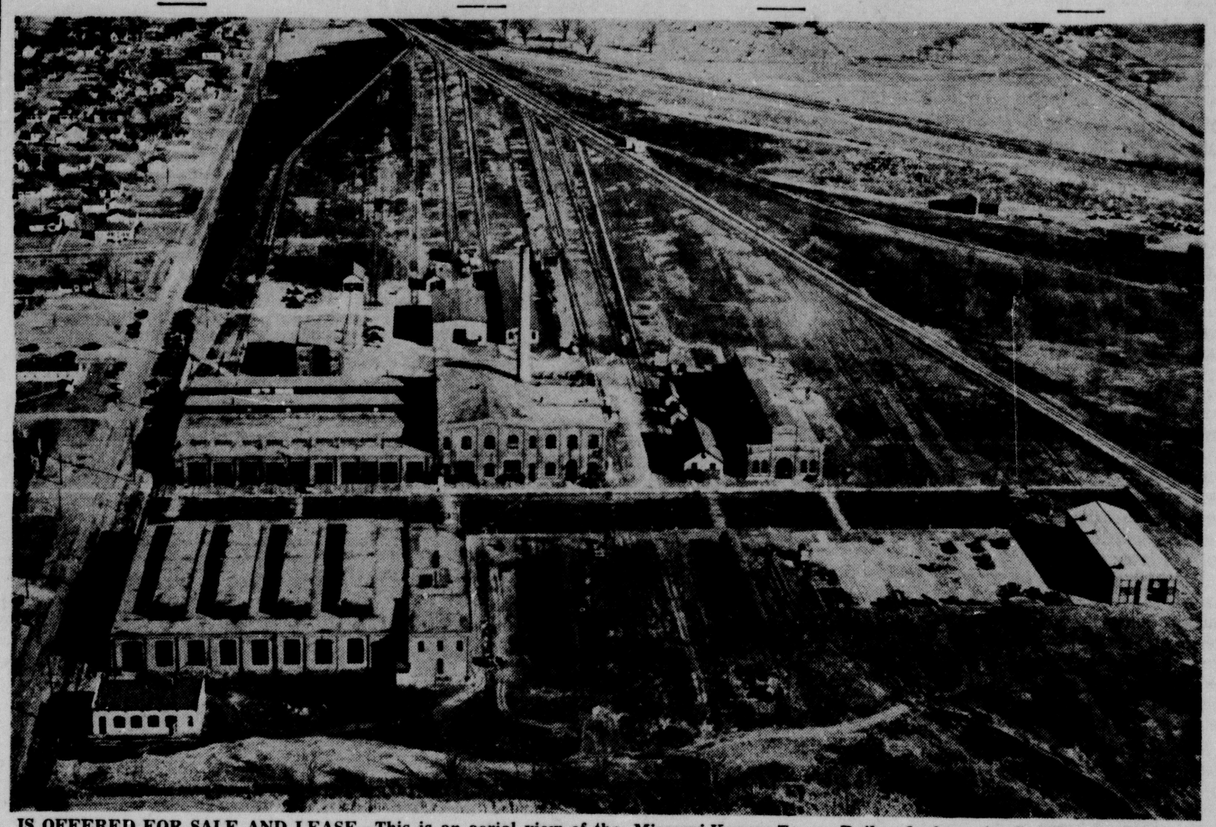

"By such antics this district—stretching from city wards through fine farm land to the edge of the Ozark Hills—is being denied a voice that will be heeded in the Congress," Hillelson said.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13—(AP)—The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters today condemned white citizen concils as "the most dangerous fascist movement in America."

The union, in convention here, called on local, state and federal agencies to enact legislation to outlaw such councils "on the grounds that the movement is an subversive to American democracy as communism."

The 250 representatives of the union supported the position of A. Philip Randolph, president of the union, in not endorsing either the Republican or Democratic candidate for president.

"The Development of a Recreation Program" will be the topic for discussion, and William H. Lyon, director of recreation for the city of Marshall, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting. A film, "Leaders for Leisure" will be shown.

Sims, Sedalia, West Central Division chairman, in announcing the program. "We as citizens need to know all we can about the development of recreation programs in our communities, and I believe tha this meeting will provide the knowledge and stimulus we need toward this end," Rev. Sims went on to say.

Its program is carried out through nine geographical divisions in the state Counties comprising the West Central Division are Bates, Benton, Camden, Cass Cole, Cooper, Henry, Hickory, Johnson, Lafayette, Moniteau, Morgan, Pettis and Saline.

Navy Calls Off Search For Plane Survivors

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—(AP)—The Navy today called off the 7th Fleet's search for possible survivors of the patrol plane shot down by the Chinese Communists off the China coast three weeks ago.

A Navy announcement indicated no hope for finding survivors among the plane's 16 American crewmen. Four bodies have been recovered.

The U. S. government has formally charged the Chinese Communists with full responsibility for shooting down the Navy aircraft and has demanded compensation for loss of the plane and the Americans aboard.

Stevenson Blasts Ike's 'Part-Time Presidency'

Tells Democrats the Republican Leadership Has Passed to Nixon

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 13 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson declared tonight Dwight D. Eisenhower is running the country under "a part-time presidency" and the leadership of the Republican party has passed to Vice President Nixon.

The Democratic presidential nominee, in an address prepared for a $50-a-plate dinner, declared in his sharpest criticism yet of his Republican rival:

"Every one shares in sympathy for the circumstances which have created a part-time presidency. But we cannont understand—and we will not accept—turning the government over to men who work full-time for the wrong people or a limited group of people.

'Situation Would Get Worse'

"And the plain truth is that this situation would get worse, not better, in a continuation of this administration, because what influence the President has with his party in Congress has depended on his running again.

"From here on the future of Republican leaders will depend not on Eisenhower but the Republican heir-apparent, Mr. Nixon. And the vice president seems to sail downwind no matter which way the wind blows.

"These are stern facts. To ignore them is perilous. They are the reasons America's human needs go today unmet. Nor will they be met so long as the President is not master in his own house."

First Major TV-Radio Talk

Stevenson's campaign manager, James A. Finnegan, said 8,500 tickets were sold for the cafeteria-style buffet supper which preceded Stevenson's first major all-networks TV-radio address of the campaign, costing upwards of $200,000.

Using Finnegan's figures, the cold plate affair grossed $425,000 to be divided evenly between the national and Pennsylvania campaign.

The central issue in the campaign, Stevenson said, is "whether America wants to stay on dead center, mired in complacency and cynicism; or whether it wants once more now to move forward—to meet our human needs . . . to build a new America."

He took issue with the Republican claim of "peace, prosperity, progress," saying that in four years of wealth and abundance "our government has let the shortage of schoolrooms and teachers get worse."

"It—the Republican administration—has done almost nothing to stop the slum cancer which today infects 10 million American dwellings," he said, while juvenile delinquency has "increased at a frightening rate."

Cites 'Failures' Under GOP

Stevenson cited what he described as other failures on the health front and then declared that under the Republicans:

"We have watched the rise of higher costs and lower prices close on the hapless, helpless farmer whose only offense is that he has done his job too well."

The small businessman, he said, "is now being pushed to the wall," and natural resources are being "raided for private profit."

On the peace front, Stevenson said, the picture is "even more sobering."

"The Soviets have advanced, while we have fallen back, not only in the competition for strength of arms but even in the education of engineers and scientists," he said.

Hornets Find a Home

WAUKESHA, Wis., Sept. 13—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Melbo burned out a nest of hornets on their front porch last night, but the project turned out badly for several hundred reasons.

For one thing, the porch caught fire.

For the rest, the hornets, having no other place to go, moved in with the Melbos.

Clay School Teachers Join In Boycotting

600 Pupils Refuse To Attend Classes With Two Negroes

CLAY, Ky., Sept. 13 (AP)—Boycotting of the Clay school spread today to some teachers as nearly 600 students shunned classrooms for a second day because two Negro pupils were admitted.

Ten of 17 teachers failed to report for class. Two of the 10 resigned.

The mayor of Clay, Herman Z. Clark, said, "We will follow a policy of passive resistance by keeping or children out of school."

One White Boy Attends

Only one unidentified third-grade boy remained in the three-story brick building with James and Teresa Gordon, the two Negro children. Outside, Kentcky National Guardsmen patrolled the school grounds.

The school principal, Miss Irene Powell, said the three pupils "are being taught regular classes."

At lunch time, she added, "they are served in the cafeteria."

She declined to identfy the white boy but said he was in the same room with 8-year-old Teresa.

National Guardsmen opened the school to the Gordon children yesterday. Twice before angry crowds had turned the two Negro children and their mother, Mrs.

Overabundance of Students—

Report Lack of Schoolteachers, Classrooms in Missouri Schools

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 13 (AP)—Missouri's public schools have begun a new school year with spotty reports of too few teachers and not enough classrooms.

Throughout the state there's an overabundance of students.

The state Teachers Association in the midst of a survey, reported today its incomplete figures show there were at least 300 teacher vacancies. Most of the shortage is evident in the high schools with the specialized fields of music and science suffering most.

"Most of the vacancies will be filled by persons not meeting usual standards of preparation," the preliminary report said.

Generally, educators consider 30 youngsters just above the maximum for a one-teach classroom. But returns from the association questionnaire show there are at least 1,781 elementary classrooms with more than 35 youngsters jammed in each one

Only 535 of those reported enrollment above 40 students to a classroom but some ran as high as the 58 enrolled in the fifth and sixth grade classes at Holland.

The association said this year is still an improvement over last because the number of classes of 35 or more youngsters is less than half the number two years ago.

Most districts have run their bonded indebtedness to the constitutional limit but it's still not enough, the report said.

For instance, in Raytown where the population is booming, there are from 48 to 50 youngsters in each elementary classroom. The district also will set up 12 classrooms in churches and 14 basement rooms.

Riverview Gardens has 400 youngsters quarted in non-school buildings Winona, in Shannon County, is housing three grades in the City Hall.

Chamois, in Osage County, is conducting some high school classes in a store building and the fifth through eighth grades quartered in a building which was abandoned for school purposes 15 years ago.

Other places using facilities outside regular school buildings include Ritenour, Browning, Forest City, Appleton City, Owensville and Gideon.

Caruthersville is conducting elementary courses on a half day basis until a new building is completed.

The state Department of Education recently reported that 8,000 additional classrooms will be needed in Missouri by 1960. Over a third of the districts reporting said they would be unable to provide the necessary housing even if they went into debt to the limit.

Missouri has shied away from any proposals that the federal government step in with school building aid. But it has been suggested the state could set up a school building loan fund for construction money for the poorer districts.

School Board, State Group Sponsor Adult Evening Courses

The Sedalia Board of Education, in cooperation with the State Dept. of Vocational Education, is offering two adult evening courses in mechanical drawing. A class will meet on Tuesday nights for those who have never had drawing and the second class on Thursday nights for those who have had some drawing and need a refresher course. The classes will meet in Room 200 at Smith-Cotton High School from 7:30-9:30 p.m., starting next week for a ten-week course.

A group of administrative personnel of National Engineering and Manufacturing, Inc., have already enrolled. There is space left for five more adults in each class. Enrollment or information may be obtained by calling Pinkney Miller or Ralph Vanderkamp at Smith-Cotton High School. Enrollment must be made before 4 p.m. Monday.

President Fraser Announces Offer To Private Firms

Two Triangular Tracts to Be Made Available Immediately, the Rest Ready for Disposal Within a Year

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad's passenger car building and repair shops at Sedalia, which have been on an inactive basis much of the time in recent years, will be made available for the location of private industries which would provide permanent payrolls and other advantages to the community, Donald V. Fraser, Katy president, announced Thursday.

The MKT's industrial development will energetically cooperate with the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce and other civic interests in an aggressive campaign to induce private industries to locate in Sedalia and acquire use of the extensive Katy shop facilities, either in full or in part, Fraser said.

The land and shop buildings will be offered for sale or lease in whole or in nits, he said.

Two triangular tracts of ground at either end of the property will be made available immediately, it was announced. These consist of approximately 12 acres fronting 20th Street at the eastern end of the property and approximately five acres at the western end. The balance of the property, including buildings, will be made available for disposal to private industries as the company is enable to release the units. The entire property should be available for sale within a year, it was announced.

The Katy's passenger shop zone embraces about 36 acres and the facility includes such major buildings as the wood mill, coach paint and varnish shop, passenger car construction shop, office building, machine and blacksmith shop, power plant and auxiliary structures.

In order to make the facility available to private industries which, in the long run, would prove of far more benefit to the community of Sedalia than has the Katy's stand-by operations of recent years, the railroad plans to consolidate what passenger car repair work it has with its freight car repair projects in shops at other pointsu on the system, Fraser said.

"By helping to induce private industries to locate in Sedalia, and making our passenger shop facilities and property available to them at advantageous terms, we will be materially helping to stabilize and strengthen the entire economy of Sedalia and Pettis County," he said.

"It has been most gratifying to find that the business and civic leaders of Sedalia with whom we have discussed our plans are in agreement with us that, in the long run, the community stands to gain important and enduring economic benefits through this program to bring new and permanent industries to Sedalia."

The Sedalia shops originally were designed to take care of the constrction and repair of the so-called "conventional," or heavy, passenger cars. With the advent within recent years of the streamlined all-steel passenger cars, new techniques, new methods and new materials are utilized. The stronger and lighter construction of these new-type cars makes necessary far less repair and overhauling than was the case with conventional cars.

The economics of modern-day railroad operation with diesel motive power require a streamlining of all plant, equipment and operating facilities and techniques, which includes the consolidating of many separate repair, servicing and maintenance facilities at centralized points, Fraser pointed out.

The Katy president said that disposal of the Sedalia shop facilities to private industry would work to the permanent benefit of the community by substituting for the sporadic employment offered by the shops in recent years a continuous level of employment in new private industries with consequent regular payrolls, enhanced purchasing power and the many other advantages stemming from permanent industry.

Katy Decision Is Milestone For Chamber

"The decision of the Missouri Kansas - Texas Railroad to make the Sedalia passenger shop facility available for industrial development should be considered a milestone in the effort of the Chamber of Commerce and its Industrial Division," commented Jack Faber, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

"We have long enjoyed the fullest cooperation in working with the Katy Industrial Development Department and the announcement Thursday provides the proof of the Katy's interest in the economic progress of Sedalia. With this facility available to us, our efforts will be redoubled to secure substantial industrial payrolls for the city.

"Our industrial development program is a continuous one and we should now be able to move forward to completely fill the area as it is ideally suited for industrial purposes. Some firms with whom we have been in contact have already voiced an interest in the Katy facilities," Faber said.

Gets Change of Venue On Charge of Assault

PARIS, Mo., —(AP)—Franklin Lee Powell of Perry, charged with assault with intent to kill a man with an electrical trap, was granted a change of venue to Randolph County today.

No date has been set for trial at Moberly.

The 52-year-old Powell is charged in the severe burning of Irva Lee Scobee, 55, who walked into an electrically charged wire stretched across the porch of his home near Santa Fe last April 12.

Attorneys for Powell, at a hearing before Circuit Judge Roy B. Meriwether, maintained the people of this area were prejudiced against Powell and that he could not have a fair trial in Monroe County.

Powell was brought here for the hearing from the State Hospital at Fulton, where Judge Meriwether ordered him confined because of fears he might take his own life. He returned to the hospital after the hearing.

Joan Lammers, Edwin Kammerich Exchange Vows

The wedding of Miss Joan Lammers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Lammers, Pilot Grove, and Edwin Kammerich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amanders Kammerich, Pilot Grove, was solemnized Saturday, August 18, at nine o'clock in the St. Martin's Catholic Church near Pilot Grove, with the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Jerome Jaworski, pastor of the church, before an altar adorned with roses intermingled with gypsophila and cathedral tapers. The side altars held bouquets of mixed flowers. The Rev. Kevin McGonigle, St. John's Church, was present in the sanctuary.

Mrs. Gerald Larm, Boonville, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Betty Lou Young, Mrs. Earl Twenter, Mrs. Homer Twenter and Mrs. Roger Twenter, who sang the Nuptial High Mass, the Mass of the Angels and "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over taffeta, styled with a snug-fitting bodice of lace, featuring a round neckline with scalloped lace edge. The long sleeves came to points over the hand. The bouffant skirt, over hoops, was of double net, the outer skirt fashioned with two tiers of ruffles topped with a lace scroll design and falling into a chapel sweep train. Her fingertip tulle veil fell from a bandeau of scalloped lace adorned with sequins and seed pearls. Her bouquet was a lavender orchid carried on a white prayer book which her mother had carried at her wedding. She wore a triple strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Mary Ann Kammerich, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Her floor length gown was of blue net and lace over taffeta and featured a snug bodice, topped with a lace bolero. The full skirt, adorned with ruffles of lace and net, was worn over hoops. Her bandeau was of blue net and rose petals. She wore a pearl necklace, gift of the bride, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations.

Miss Martha Jean Kammerich, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Her gown was of yellow net and lace over taffeta styled identically to that of the maid of honor. Her colonial bouquet was of light green carnations. She wore a pearl necklace, gift of the bride.

Little Miss Diane Young served as flower girl and wore a white dress styled identically to the maid of honor. She carried a basket of flowers. Master Bobby Lammers, brother of the bride, was ringbearer, and carried the rings on an oblong satin pillow with a lace ruffle and a lace rosette at each end. The rings were attached to a lace rosette in the center.

Donald Lammers served as best man with James Lammers as groomsman.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lammers chose a light blue sheer dress with white and blue accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a navy blue dress with black accessories. Both wore a white carnation corsage.

A wedding dinner was served at noon at the Boonville Rod and Gun Club. Mrs. Charles Lammers was in charge of the guest book. Evergreens Overcome Bleakness

Any Home's Winter Attractiveness Can Be Greatly Helped By Good Planning

Regardless of the size of any home property its winter attractiveness is tremendously increased by careful use of evergreens.

There are two principal types of evergreen plants (1) the coniferous evergreens, and (2) the broad-leaved evergreens.

The coniferous evergreens do not bear flowers in the ordinary sense and are used primarily for the rich, everlasting color of their foliage. Because they hold their winter color under all conditions of climate—they are especially important in the home landscape.

They include the pines, firs, arbor vitae, spruces, hemlocks, yews, cedars, junipers and similar plants, growing in many different shapes for special purposes, with gray-blue and gray to dark green. A few have a golden color, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. Many grow in the familiar cone-shape, broad at the base and narrowing to a point at their top. Others are columnar, globe-shaped, or low and spreading, while still others grow so close to the ground that they are ground covers. All add needed color and life and warmth to the property in cold weather when most other shrubs and trees are bare of foliage.

In addition to their use as foundation plants and as accent foliage all year long, coniferous evergreens are especially valuable for screening off unsightly views, for privacy, and as windbreaks and sound barriers. Windbreaks keep homes warmer in winter and cooler in summer, if properly planted. On small properties evergreens can be used to break cold winds and form "sun pockets" on the property. Your nurseryman can tell you how to locate the trees for various purposes.

Broad-leaved evergreens, which include the rhododendrons, some varieties of barberry, cotoneaster, hollies, and hundreds of similar plants, are used for their flowers, colorful fruits, and winter foliage. These have climate limitations and it is best to consult with your nurseryman as to which are preferable in your neighborhood for your particular purposes. The broad-leaved evergreens, however, are a striking class of plants, with individual characteristics that can be used in home landscaping for unusual foliage effects. Combined with the coniferous evergreens, they add attractive winter foliage contrasts.

Rural People To Lead Home Improvements

With an estimated $24,000,000,000 to be spent by farmers over the next two decades for electric oppliances and equipment, Operation Home Improvement will find rural people pointing the way for many of their "city cousins."

Approximately 93 per cent of the nation's farms now have electric service. It has been a long time coming to many of them, so it is comparatively new to most. But electricity has grown to be both a servant in their homes and an "extra hired hand" on their farmsteads.

Many of today's farm homes are far ahead of urban homes in numbers and uses of electric appliances. Others are fast approaching that point. Some which have been electrified more recently still have some distance to go to reach urban standards, but they are making remarkable progress. The time is not far distant when what seemed to be the miracle of yesteryear—urban living conditions in rich country surroundings—will be achieved.

Lamp lighted farm homes are few and far between these days. The electric conveniences which rural people have always dreamed of having—but which used to be beyond their reach—can now be used by them. And, they're buying them in considerable quantities.

During the next five years, it is estimated that farm people will spend a little over $1,000,000,000 for wiring and lighting needs. In that same 5-year period, it is expected that farmers will spend $535,000,000 for electric refrigerators; $472,000,000 for television sets; $439,000,00 for washing machines; $363,000,000 for farm and home freezers; $213,000,000 for electric ranges, and $394,000,000 for plumbing and related facilities.

Electric pressure water systems will be added at a greater rate than ever before during this big "modernization year" as many more farmers begin enjoying additional urban comforts in their homes, and running water for their livestock and poultry. The installation of a pressure water system brings with it the opportunity for using electric water heaters and ends, for all time, the tedious jobs of pumping and carrying water to homes and service buildings.

Portraits Are In Style Again For Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Love that portrait of yourself or your family? Why not make it part of your decor?

These days the family album goes to the walls. It is considered fashionable again to exhibit family portraits. Brand new settings are suggested to make you proud of those family images. What's more it helps inject the family personality into the home.

At a recent exhibit of portraiture, the newest in photograph techniques and tonal quality was employed to illustrate the trend. Prominent decorators put their talents to work and came up with some fascinating ideas.

Decorator C. Eugene Stephenson showed how a full length color portrait of mother may fit in gracefully into the living room. In a bedroom arrangement, he placed two photographs of the children on either side of the bed. A handsome color photograph of the man of the house was displayed in the dining-foyer.

Dorothy Draper, another decorator, showed how to group large family portraits using old gilded frames, formerly reserved for cherished paintings. Four were placed over a 10-foot sofa in pairs on either side of a large Italian gilded sunburst. An advocate of personalizing the decorating scheme in every room, Mrs. Draper featured portrait photographs of two boys in colored frames in the kitchen, dramatizing the setting against silver and gold walls.

Buying Hints Help Girls Buy New Coats

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

A teen-ager who's just beginning to manage her own wardrobe often finds that she has a raft of disorganized garments and "nothing to wear."

Fall is a good time to set out to correct this condition.

After a thorough survey of the closet and making the decisions about what's there and what's to be given away, swapped, remade, let out and repaired, the problem of how to allocate the budget comes up.

The winter coat is the first consideration. It's an expensive buy, no matter what price range you generally keep within.

If last winter's coat is one of the items in good condition and it still fits, this problem is avoided. However, it may be through after this season because of being outgrown or worn out.

If this is the case, start putting away a few dollars a week so that you'll be able to take advantage of the winter coat sales that will come along next spring. If a winter coat must be purchased, take careful stock of what will go best with your usual style of dressing. Fitted or not fitted, three-quarter or full length. If you have no dress-up coat, prepare to buy one that will do double duty.

If you give a coat hard wear (girls in cold climes do) pick a fabric that will hold up. If it gets extra cold in your area, investigate coats with zip-in linings. If you are going to have only one coat, remember that fancy fabrics or pile fabrics take longer to be dry cleaned and you may be without a coat longer than you'll want.

If you have to have a coat and it'll take many weeks' allowance or salary, try to float a loan with the family and pay it back. If this is impossible, many stores offer time payment plans. This will raise the cost, but if you must have a coat, you have no choice.

New Materials Make Paneling Weekend Job

Sprucing up a room by paneling walls in beautiful wood becomes a "one-weekend" project with a unique paneling material developed by United States Plywood Corporation.

Called Plankweld, this paneling comes in plywood "planks" 16½ inches wide and 8 feet high. The long edges of each panel are grooved so that one panel slides into the next to form a continuous wall. The panels are anchored with spcial clips which are completely hidden from view.

At do-it-yourself shows, the manufacturer invites women visitors to step into the booth and prove that the installation is so simple that anyone can do the job; even without training. Plank-weld manufacturers are careful however, to warn the girls that if they can't handle a hammer without banging a thumb they had better not try it.

Plankweld panels are prefinished in light and dark wood such as knotty pine, mahogany, walnut, Korina and birch and can be installed over broken plaster or other types of wall surfaces.

The ease of installing these panels makes it possible to transform a room without going to the trouble of doing special wall preparation if the studs are placed on 16-inch centers. The attachment can be made over existing paint or papered surfaces. The special finish of Plankweld is said to resist crazing and to be suitable for use in hot, cold or humid climates.

Epicurean first course: cold poached eggs served atop jellied chicken broth seasoned with tarragon. Garnish the eggs with capers.

New Heating Units Permit Most Use Of Basement Area

Compactly, Handsomely Styled They Occupy Small Space, Stop Soiling Grime on Furnishings

Basements are getting a new lease on life, thanks to a remarkable unit recently developed by the gas industry which combines heating, cooling and air-conditioning on a year-round basis.

Because these units are so compactly and handsomely styled, they can be fitted anywhere, even a closet will suffice. When installed in the basement, they not only keep that area warm in the winter and cool in the summer, but enable families to use this valuable space for recreational centers.

Best of all, the homeowner can add on air-conditioning now, or at some future date. The same ductwork used for the forced air heating system provides a ready made system for cool air distribution in the summer.

If your basement is in the clutches of a space - eating monster, otherwise known as a gravity furnace, you can easily release it from the grip of the old octopus by installing a warm air gas heating system.

Because the old fashioned heating system depended on gravity to move the air through the house, it was necessary to use large ducts to make it easy for the air to flow through them. For the same reason it was necessary to start the ducts low at the furnace so that they could slope gradually upwards throughout their full lengths.

The newer types of gas warm air systems have changed all this. They use motor-driven blowers to circulate the warmed air, so the furnaces can be located anywhere in the house. They use smaller, narrowed ducts which can be tucked in among the structural members of the building.

The furnace-freed basement area can be put to many other good uses, such as a hobby shop, study room, rumpus room, rainy - day playroom, model train room, and an arts and crafts studio.

The new furnace can be installed neatly in one corner of the basement and all the pipes can be tucked up between the joists, clearing the decks for many decorating possibilities.

Weatherproof and more automatic than sunshine itself, gas economically heats millions of American homes without the work and worry of furnace-tending.

In good weather or bad, gas is always on hand. It is the one fuel that doesn't run low in supply. It doesn't have to be ordered or delivered above ground. Gas is carried right to the house in protected underground pipelines, and it goes directly to the heating unit without shoveling or storage.

The second it enters the heating unit, gas goes to work. While other fuels must be turned into gases before they can begin to work, gas responds instantly with floor-to-ceiling warmth.

It is a pure concentrate of energy which burns quickly and completely in any type of heating system — hot air, hot water, steam or separate space heaters. And, gas burns clean without leaving ashes, soot or smoke.

Besides eliminating the unpleasant winter task of disposing of ashes, the cleanliness of gas protects walls, carpets, draperies and upholstery from soiling grime. Gas heat makes spring house cleaning virtually a thing of the past.

Many other home owners are taking advantage of modern automatic gas boilers which deliver both radiant and convected heat. This type of equipment moves hot water or steam to radiators or to concealed piping in floors, walls or ceilings.

Thousands of other families have taken advantage of a quick, low-cost switch to gas heat by installing conversion burners in their furnaces and boilers.

To date, more than 20 million dwellings are heated with gas, including 7.5 million with gas central heating systems — furnaces, boilers and conversion boilers. Annually, a million more homes are being winterized with gas central heating systems.

Harmless-Looking Toys Can Cause Tragedies for Child

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.

The Chambrays were out driving on a warm Sunday afternoon. Nancy spied an ice cream store.

"Daddy, daddy!" cried Nancy, "Look, ice cream — let's have some ice cream."

"O. K. I'd like some myself." And Dad pulled the car into the parking lot.

Nancy and Marty each had a plate of delicious fresh strawberry ice cream and Mom and Dad had lime sherbert. When Dad paid the bill the man at the counter gave each child a balloon whistle.

Nancy was delighted with the present. She blew up the balloon and let it whistle its air out. All the way home in the back seat of the car she played with her new toy, blowing it up and squealing with delight as it shrieked its way flat.

Then she blew it up again but the sound that followed was a strange little squeak. Mother turned around and what she saw terrified her.

Nancy was gasping for breath, she was spluttering, trying to cough but nothing came. In a moment she was blue, then ashen gray. Dad pulled over to the side of the highway and stopped. They dragged Nancy from the car, patted her on the back, turned her upside down — she got bluer and now she was getting limp. Her terrified eyes pleaded with her mother to DO something.

Dad yelled: "Get back in the car". He remembered passing a clinic that had a big sign "Emergency Room". It was only a few blocks away. They dashed over there — but it was Sunday afternoon and the place was closed.

Desperately, they thumped Nancy and finally she gave a big cough and out popped a small metal cap — the cap that had made the balloon whistle.

Slowly Nancy's color came back to normal, and her limp little body regained its usual strength. It was Mother and Dad who were limp now. Dad was so unnerved he couldn't drive the car and Mother, who had risen to the emergency as good mothers do, collapsed in sobs now that Nancy had escaped sudden death.

While the grown-ups were trying to pull themselves together, little Marty, completely ignored during the excitement, patted his sister and said:

"Never mind, Nancy, you can have my whistle," and he handed her his toy.

That brought Dad back to reality.

"No, no," he almost screamed and he grabbed the balloon.

Next day Dad went around—to the store which had so good-naturedly given the children the toy that nearly killed his daughter. He told the story. The proprietor was horrified and instantly took the whole batch of balloon whistles and threw them in the trash — he had a little girl just about Nancy's age.

Would Establish Fund For Civil Rights Advocates in South

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A suggestion for a fund to help "persecuted" civil rights advocates and others in the South was cheered by some 200 delegates to the national convention of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

Union President A. Philip Randolph suggested yesterday that each of the union's 15,000 members contribute an hour's pay.

The fund would be used, he said, to aid hard-pressed Negro farmers and others including "persecuted whites and Negroes of the South, under daily economic and physical fear because of their advocacy of civil rights."

Randolph said the railroad industry is sick and called on railroad management, labor and the government to join in a program to improve railroad service and thereby create new business. The convention ends tomorrow.

Symington Says Campaign Issues May Include Suez

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13—(AP)—The administration's handling of the Suez canal crisis may play an important part in the 1956 presidential campaign, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) said today.

"The Suez crisis is the type of fluid issue that could change a lot of votes," said Symington.

"The Republican slogan of 'peace and Prosperity' may be put to the test in the next few weeks."

His comments were made at a news conference. He described the Suez situation as "very serious" and did not offer any criticism of the administration's policy.

Symington and Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida, chairman of the Democrats' Senatorial Campaign Committee, told reporters the party would strengthen its hold on both houses of Congress and make a close, and perhaps victorious, race for the presidency.

Smathers predicted Stevenson would carry Florida, which went for Eisenhower by 102,000 votes in 1952.

A 100,000 margin for Stvenson in Missouri was forecast by Eymington. Eisenhower carried the state by 29,000 in 1952.

Clay Schools

James Gordon, away from the school.

Led Into School by Guardsman

The Gordon family car was escorted to school this morning by two state police cars. The adjutant general of the Kentucky guard, J.J.B. Williams, personally took the children by the hand and led them onto the school ground an hour and a half before class started. He told one of his troopers:

"Let them go in the front door when it opens just like white children."

Williams said, "The situation is still not resolved. This is a test case for all Kentucky. We intend to win it. The governor—A. B. Chandler—will not back down one bit."

Attendance Up at Sturgis

At Sturgis, 11 miles away, 250 white students showed up for class along with seven Negroes. It was the fourth straight day white students had attended class in any sizeable numbers. The school has an enrollment of about 375.

National Guardsmen, however, still stood guard at the Sturgis school.

The two teacher who resigned at Clay were identified by Williams as Minvil Clark and G. R. Abernathy.

Clark, pastor of the General Baptist church, told newsmen he opposed integration because it led to intermarriage and "we'd soon have a mongrel race."

Three Killed, 22 Hurt In Flaming Bus-Truck Collision in Michigan

MONROE, Mich., Sept. 13 (AP)—Three persons were killed and 22 injured today in a fiery head-on crash of a double-decked Greyhound bus and an auto-hauling truck loaded with cars.

The collision occurred on U. S. 24 about two miles north of Monroe. The bus was en route to Detroit from Pittsburgh.

Killed were the truck driver, Francis G. Pesko, 43, of Detroit; and two bus passengers, Mrs. Frankie Mae Semple, 38, also of Detroit, and an unidentified Negro woman.

The 23 bus passengers escaped through kicked-out windows.

Sheriff Charles G. Harrington of Monroe County said the lack of an escape door on the bus was "to blame for at least one of the deaths."

Israel Is Blamed By Britain for Clash In Which 19 Died

LONDON (AP) — Britain today blamed Israel for a frontier incident in which 19 Jordanians were killed and three wounded in a new flareup of fighting.

The Foreign Office said preliminary reports from British sources in the area "show that the incident represents a violation by Israel of recent assurances given to the secretary general of the United Nations that the Palestine cease-fire will be respected."

A Foreign Office spokesman, reading from a prepared statement at a daily news conference, added this comment:

"Her Majesty's government must accordingly express their disapproval."

The spokesman indicated the fighting was on the Jordan side of the frontier and said the incident will be investigated by the U.N. armistice supervision authorities.

The Jordan government already has lodged a complaint with the armistice commission, claiming an Israeli regiment crossed the frontier and that Israeli engineers blew up a police post two miles inside its territory. Jordan charged the attacking force of about 1,000 men was supported by machinegun and mortar fire.

Troopers of the Erie post said the truck driver and two bus passengers were killed. Two of the dead were identified as Francis G. Pesko of Detroit, the trucker; and Mrs. Frankie Mae Semple, 38, of Detroit. The other victim was not identified immediately.

Six of the injured—one of them in critical condition—were admitted to Monroe hospitals, police said. The others were treated and released. All were bus passengers.

Sheriff's deputies said the bus, bound from Pittsburgh to Detroit, and the truck, outbound from Detroit with a load of new automobiles, collided at 3:30 a.m. on U. S. 24 just north of this southeastern Michigan community.

Official Says Cost For Defense May Be Offset By Cuts

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A top Pentagon official said today that increasing costs of defense can be offset in part by further cuts in military manpower.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Reuben Robertson declared: "Our present defense program puts great weight upon the use of the most modern weapons and should, of course, eventually reduce our requirements for manpower."

He said some of the "increasing costs" of new weapons have already been offset by reducing the number of people in uniform and that "still further adjustments in this direction should be possible."

Robertson made his statements in a speech prepared for the National Society of Property Casualty Underwriters. He said that in the over-fall field of guided missiles and in the development of systems to employ them "the United States is taking second place to no nation." In the current year alone, he said, the military services are buying missiles valued at more than 2½ billion dollars.

He reported that the development programs for both intercontinental and medium-range missiles are moving "on schedule and on a basis that is well coordinated within the services."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin has sent a new letter about disarmament to President Eisenhower.

Bulganin letters dealing with the Suez Canal crisis were delivered in London today to Prime Minister Eden and in Paris to Premier Guy Mollet.

A few hours afterward Ambassador Georgi Zarubin delivered the Eisenhower communication to Secretary Dulles at the State Department and there was immediate speculation that its theme also was Suez.

The ambassador, however, was asked about that and replied, "No."

Later a State Department spokesman said the letter dealt exclusively with disarmament.

Egyptians Charge Try To Incite War

CAIRO, Sept. 13 (AP)—High Egyptian sources said tonight the government is convinced the projected international Suez Canal users' association is aimed to provoke war.

Soon afterward, Secretary of ed international Suez Canal users' association is aimed to provoke war.

Soon afterward, Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference in Washington the United States has no intention of "shooting its way through the canal" and would send ships around Africa, if necessary, to avoid hostilities.

Dulles' Words Ineffective

But one source close to President Gamal Abdel Nasser said nothing in Dulles' remarks had altered Nasser's opposition to the users' association plan.

However, Nasser late tonight was going over the users' association plan again with his chief advisers—Ali Sabry and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi—seemingly heeding Dulles' urging that the plan be reconsidered in Cairo.

Another Egyptian communication went to the United Nations today. It said Britain and France must be held responsible for any breakdown in canal operations arising from a walkout of foreign pilots and technicians.

More than 400 foreign pilots and other canal employes in Egypt have given notice to the Egyptian canal authority they will quit at midnight Friday.
